Civilian 'Whiz Kids' Irk U.S. Military Pros

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many military professionals smart under what they consider an excessive influence of civilian "whiz-kid" officials at the Pentagon. But these civilians, too, have met frustrations.

"The fact is, this is a one-man show," said one informed authority who rates himself neutral in the military-vs.-civilian feud.

"It's run by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara—he makes up his own mind and makes the decisions."

Like some military leaders, the civilian operations analysts, theoreticians and experts are known to have chafed because McNamara would not go along with certain parts of their ideas.

But while rebuffs suffered by the services often come into the open, the thwarting of some of the pet proposals of the "whiz kids" generally is known only to the inner circle of defense leaders.

It is reliably reported, for example, that some of the civilian thinkers some time ago advanced the idea of withdrawing all nuclear battlefield weapons from Western Europe to reduce the hazard of accidental atomic exchange.

According to knowledgeable sources, the Joint Chiefs of Staff warned that such a move could mean the end of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The proposal got no further.

Many of these men, mostly unknown to the general public, carry Ph.D. degrees and other academic laurels. A number of them are relatively young—hence the term "whiz kids"—is applied to them by critics and admirers alike.

Many officers feel strongly there is a place for the civilian "brain" who analyzes the defense problems scientifically and mathematically—but they believe such analysts should be servants, rather than masters, of the seasoned military professionals.

Their gripe is that the analysts who have achieved stature under McNamara dabble in military strategy and weapons questions which, the military professionals contend, they lack the experience and competence to handle.

There is no doubt that McNamara—a "facts and figures man" gave the analysts greater prominence than they ever had enjoyed before in the defense setup.

But associates of the secretary insist he does not buy what the analysts sell without weighing their arguments against those of the military, and that the military positions do not get short shift.

The art of operations analysts has become more sophisticated with the advent of improved computers and other advanced tools.

One major criticism voiced by military men is that all problems cannot be reduced to mathematical equations and computer treatment.

These uniformed critics — and there are some key civilians who

Support Mounts For Test Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate drive for ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty appeared today to have picked up more supporters.

Democratic and Republican leaders, working hand in hand to steer the agreement through the Senate, counted almost 80 votes in favor of the treaty to prohibit all tests except underground.

Only three days ago, an Associated Press survey found 73 senators were for it. A two-thirds majority is needed for ratification—67 if all 100 senators vote.

The drive got another big push Wednesday—from President Kennedy and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

In a letter, Kennedy gave the Senate "unqualified and unequivocal assurances" that there will be no letup in the defense buildup if the treaty is put into effect.

But it was Dirksen who gave the so-called "great debate" its drama.

In a frequently impassioned speech, he threw his unqualified support behind ratification with reservations or any formal understandings.

"We are fully assured of a program that will keep us strong in the nuclear field and give us the requisite strength to meet any challenge to our security and our vital interest," Dirksen declared after reading Kennedy's statement to the Senate.

Whether the President's letter or Dirksen's speech changed any minds was not known for certain.

However, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who has indicated doubts about the treaty, said the President's letter "should leave no doubt about the determination of the President to carry out in good faith the assurances requested by the Senate."

Kennedy, in his letter addressed to Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, sought to allay every concern which has been raised about the treaty in Senate debate.

He gave "unqualified and unequivocal" assurances — which Dirksen had asked—that:

1. Underground testing will be pursued "vigorously and diligently" and strong laboratories maintained in a vigorous program of weapons development.

2. The United States remains ready to resume atmospheric testing immediately if the Soviets should break the treaty.

3. Facilities for the detection of violations will be expanded and improved.

4. The treaty in no way limits presidential authority to use nuclear weapons "for the defense of the United States and its allies, if a situation should develop requiring such a grave decision."

The latter assurance was obviously aimed at reducing votes for a reservation proposed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., to write these assurances into the resolution of ratification.

Dirksen told the Senate that the assurances given by Kennedy in this respect are satisfactory to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who made his endorsement of the treaty subject to such a guarantee.

School Band Hazing Fatal To Boy, 15

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Police held three members of the Charleston High School band to police pending a decision on action in the case of a sophomore boy who died after band initiation hazing.

Michael Murphy, 15, was taken from the school gym Wednesday and was pronounced dead on arrival at Charleston General Hospital.

Authorities said he apparently died from shock following "the pink belly treatment"—abdominal thumping administered in informal initiation hazing.

The names of the three band members—all 16 years old—who allegedly participated in the hazing were not disclosed. Police juvenile authorities and the county prosecutor's office met today to decide if the case should go to juvenile court or to an adult court. No charges were immediately filed.

Detective Robert Gunnoe said the three boys told him it was the practice for upper class bandsmen to apply "the pink belly" to new band members. The incident took place in a gym equipment room during a gym class break. No instructors were present.

"This sort of thing definitely is not approved by the school," Gunnoe said, "but apparently it is tolerated."

Archbishop Denies Audience Canceled

NEW YORK (AP)—Archbishop Pierre Martin Ngo Dinh Thuc, brother of South Viet Nam's president, has denied reports by Vatican sources that a papal audience had been canceled because of the explosive political situation in his country.

When the Roman Catholic prelate arrived at Idlewild Airport Wednesday, he told newsmen: "I did not request any audience. It has been scheduled to be held when I return to Rome."

The archbishop, 65, said he will return to Rome within the week and will be there for the Sept. 29 reopening of the Ecumenical Council.

Asked why the Vatican ordered him not to discuss Viet Nam politics, Archbishop Thuc replied with a smile, "They are afraid of you journalists."

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Possibility of a bus strike in Columbus appeared today as bus drivers and the Columbus Transit Co. talked new contract terms. Local 208, Transport Workers Union, says it will not work without a contract after 12:01 a.m. Saturday Sept. 28.

"Either we'll have a strike or a successful contract before I leave," said Andrew Kacyn, TWU international representative staying in Columbus for the duration of the negotiations.

Among the union demands is one for a 35-hour week, instead of 40 hours. Bus drivers now get $2.57 an hour, or $102.80 gross pay a week. Under the union demand, they would get $113.08 for 35 hours, or $3.23 an hour.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Army wants an Ohio firm, Grimes Manufacturing Co. of Urbana, to produce 2,439 anti-collision beacons for military planes in the next six months.

The small, red rotating lights, something like those on emergency vehicles, are used in time of poor visibility to warn other pilots of a plane's presence. The $52,000 contract with Grimes announced by the Army calls for delivery in early March 1964.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Delbert L. Latta, Republican congressman from Bowling Green, Ohio, says he is one of four who voted in subcommittee for a proposal to amend the wheat law and suspend operation of an overplanting penalty when there are no wheat quotas.

The subcommittee is part of the House Agriculture Committee. By a 7-4 vote, it informally expressed its opposition to the proposal.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two sergeants from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, have been honored as outstanding airmen by the Air Force Association.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, presented the citations Wednesday night to S. M. Sgt. Edwin B. Saunders, a line chief, and T. Sgt. William L. Jennings, machinist technician, both of whom live in Fairborn, Ohio, near their base.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, has been named one of nine members of a special committee set up by the House to study how the government is spending its research funds.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown University opened classes today with an enrollment of 8,650, and Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of the school, estimated upward of 150 additional students would be added in a late enrollment period next Tuesday.

British Guiana Denies Getting Soviet Aid Offer

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Informed sources said today the Soviet Union has made no direct offer of agricultural aid to the government of Prime Minister Cheddi B. Jagan but that help may be offered through a private firm.

The sources were commenting on a newspaper report that the Soviet Union had offered enough Russian aid to overcome what the Kremlin described as "the imperialist blockade" of Jagan's left-leaning government.

JERUSALEM (AP) — A frail, bespectacled salesman says he masterminded Tuesday's demonstrations by Jewish religious zealots at Christian schools in Jerusalem, Jaffa and Haifa.

Dov Ber Zohar, 27, told a news conference he headed the "Circle of Activists" who organized the attacks that brought protests from Britain and France, and from Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol.

Zohar said he had no intent to demonstrate against Christian beliefs. He said the demonstrations were against "those who snatch our children from us with intent to convert them."

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — An American soldier's father, who lost one appeal to the President to get his son removed from the United Nations Command in Korea, may try to take his case to the U.S. Supreme Court, his attorney said today.

The father, Walter W. Cupples of Concord, N.H., petitioned President Kennedy last month to either remove his son, Robert W. Cupples, 17, from the U.N. Command or discharge him.

Cupples contended he had given permission for his son to enlist in the U.S. Army and not that of the United Nations. He called the act of placing young Cupples under U.N. control a breach of contract.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert abruptly canceled today a scheduled appearance at an Air Force Association reception in protest against a resolution opposing ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Zuckert wrote J. B. Montgomery, president of the association, that the resolution adopted by the organization Wednesday "is so immoderate and based on such misinformation as to disregard completely the best interests of the United States."

Loss of Leg Fails To Curb Parachutist

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — It was quite a jump.

Sgt. Donald H. Hamblen parachuted only 1,250 feet, from a helicopter into a lake on this Marine training base.

But the leap also brought him from uncertainty into good standing among the corps' toughest branches of the one-toughest reconnaissance fighters who must operate on land, under water and in the air.

The jump Wednesday was the climax of Hamblen's six-month campaign to prove he's as good as any other man — despite the fact that he has only one leg.

Hamblen's left leg was amputated below the knee after he fell onto 12,000-volt power lines last Sept. 21 in a routine training jump.

After six months in hospitals, Hamblen, 31, decided to fight his way back into his old outfit, the 1st Force Reconnaissance Co. of the 1st Marine Division.

To qualify, Hamblen, with an artificial leg, had to pass rigid tests as a skin diver and prove his endurance on land.

In his final test, Hamblen jumped from a helicopter and manipulated his shroud lines expertly to guide himself down to within 50 yards of a pickup boat.

Viet Nam Claimed Blackmail Target

Solons Ask Halt To Viet Nam Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-two senators introduced a resolution today calling for an end to all military and economic aid to South Viet Nam unless it abandons its "policies of repression" and seeks popular support.

In offering the resolution with support from 21 colleagues, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said that "the persecution of Buddhists by the present government of South Viet Nam is an affront to the good conscience of the American people."

"If these cruel repressions are not abandoned, further American aid to this government should be terminated, and American personnel withdrawn," Church added.

"The loss of South Viet Nam to communism would be deplorable, and particularly bitter after so long and agonizing an effort there," Church said.

"But, in the end, the country will fall victim to the relentless

Communist penetration unless the Diem regime abandons its policies of repression or another non-Communist regime emerges to rally the people.

"The recent mass protests in the cities of South Viet Nam demonstrate that there is a mighty reservoir of anti-Communist feeling which could yet give greater popular support to the war against the Viet Cong."

Pupil Boycotts Grow in 'Bama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Pupil boycotts protesting integration spread to new schools across Alabama today and disrupted some classes not even desegregated.

More than 1,000 boys and girls stayed away from West End High School in Birmingham for the third day in a row, while an estimated 300 walked out at Murphy High in Mobile for the first time, chanting anti-Negro yells. Nearly 50 pupils were arrested at Mobile.

Sympathy protests broke out at the still-segregated Ensley and Jones Valley high schools in Birmingham, and a yelling crowd of some 300 teen-agers from the boycotted schools massed in front of still another, Phillips High, demanding that pupils there join the walkout.

Helmeted police rushed to Phillips and sealed off the block surrounding the school while the youthful demonstrators shouted and waved pro-segregation banners and Confederate flags. Teachers ordered the Phillips pupils back to class, and few of them actually left the school.

The crowd assembled in a park across the street from Phillips, then suddenly dispersed after about 30 minutes, departing in small groups.

Screaming men and women joined the demonstration as it moved from one section of Birmingham to another. Many of them carried the emblem of the militant pro-segregation National States Rights party.

Federalized National Guard troops remained on duty in an armory near the West End school, but did not intervene.

Police called in a fire truck with high pressure water hoses at Murphy High in Mobile, but the water was not turned on. The crowd of white pupils began to break up after about an hour.

Some of the Mobile pupils were arrested when they refused to return to school. They were hauled off in paddy wagons. Principal Raymond B. Taylor said leaders of the demonstration would be dealt with, but he did not elaborate.

Severe Storm Warnings Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Weather Bureau has issued a warning of scattered severe thunderstorms, accompanied by large hail and damaging winds and a tornado or two, for portions of Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania today from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Est.

The storm area extends 60 miles either side of a line running between 45 miles west-northwest of Columbus and 45 miles east-southeast of Pittsburgh.

In Ohio, that includes an area enclosed by a line connecting Findlay, Youngstown, Marietta, Wilmington and back to Findlay.

Emergency Erases Talk on Emergency

First Lady Tells of Plot

Mrs. Nhu Declares Kennedy also Victim

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, black eyes flashing, swore today President Ngo Dinh Diem's government in South Viet Nam would never yield to what she called "perfidious, blackmailing attacks."

Delegates to the Interparliamentary Union gave a thunderous ovation to the powerful, controversial first lady of South Viet Nam, who earlier had told newsmen of an alleged plot she said was directed not only against her family but also against President Kennedy.

Wednesday she called the U.S. President an appeaser for trying to find a compromise solution to the Vietnamese crisis.

Mrs. Nhu, pretty as a picture in pink was the last speaker at the union's opening meeting.

South Viet Nam, she said, has "become an aim of perfidious blackmailing attacks. But we will never yield before this campaign."

"With the aid of friends we will keep our regime, in spite of the war (against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas), with the war and against the war."

She told delegates a democratic revolution has taken place in South Viet Nam and charged: "The affair of the Buddhists has been exploited by reactionaries and counter revolutionaries."

Yugoslav President Tito opened the conference of Parliament members from 61 countries.

Mrs. Nhu told newsmen the world press was unfair to her and her country.

"The plot to discredit us is not only against our government but also against President Kennedy," she said, but refused to elaborate.

Asked why she believes the press to be unfair to her, she answered furiously: "It's the result of a plot of only six men in Saigon." She refused to name the six.

Mrs. Nhu expressed satisfaction that the U.S. State Department has denied reports that the U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had demanded that her husband leave the country.

Mrs. Nhu said that if she visits the United States, she does not intend to see President Kennedy, a man she described as "misinformed about the situation in Viet Nam." The solution, she asserted, "should be to get better information."

"He is a politician and when he hears loud opposition he tries to appease it somehow," the petite, powerful first lady of South Viet Nam said on her arrival in Belgrade Wednesday.

That was her reaction when reporters asked her to comment on the concern voiced by Kennedy about the Buddhist situation in South Viet Nam.

Mrs. Nhu, 38, sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem also had a few words for Pope Paul VI. He also has expressed concern for the plight of the Buddhists. The South Vietnamese government has used strongarm methods in stamping out Buddhist demonstrations for more religious freedom.

She said the pontiff, although not misinformed, "gets easily worried."

French Airliner Crash Is Fatal to 40 Persons

PARIS, France (AP) — A French airliner struck a mountain in southern France today and rescuers who reached the site later reported all 40 persons aboard had perished. There were 36 passengers, all British tourists, and four crew members.

A ground team which had set out from Paris for the wreckage of the plane, on rugged 4,800-foot Roc de la Rouquette, advised Gendarmerie headquarters by radio that all aboard had been killed when the plane slammed into the mountain shortly after midnight.

Mystery Cash Donor Leaves Identity Clue

BARNEVELD, Wis. (AP) — Southwestern Wisconsin residents who have received anonymous cash gifts, ranging from $80 to $100, wondered today if they are soon to know the identity of their benefactor.

Another $100 gift has been received, and with it came a clue—the first since the money began arriving without explanation last month. The gifts have been received by 34 persons, both young and old and in all walks of life. In most cases they came at a time when they would be the most help.

The latest recipient is Mrs. Watson, a widow who is secretary of the Barneveld school. She recently underwent surgery.

She received on Tuesday five $20 bills in an envelope postmarked at 5 p.m. Sunday in nearby Mineral Point. A sheet of paper folded around the money carried the printed inscription, "Silence is golden."

Mrs. Watson's address was printed on the envelope, which also provided the first possible hint of the identity of the sender. "Mrs. Harry L. Madison, Wis.," was printed in the upper left-hand corner.

Mrs. Watson said the partial name was not enough for her to make an identification.

Voice of America Hit For Its 'Witchcraft'

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Since the Voice of America increased its transmitting power early this year, primitive villagers in the north have accused the U.S. agency of practicing witchcraft.

It seems that with the boost from 8,000 to 10,000 kilowatts, the stronger radio beams, especially after showers, are picked up by metal objects. This has made radios out of such things as bed-springs, and even caused damp leaves to issue a sound resembling an eerie human whisper.

Pupil Boycotts Grow in 'Bama

Birmingham, Mobile See Racial Protests

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Pupil boycotts protesting integration spread to new schools across Alabama today and disrupted some classes not even desegregated.

More than 1,000 boys and girls stayed away from West End High School in Birmingham for the third day in a row, while an estimated 300 walked out at Murphy High in Mobile for the first time, chanting anti-Negro yells. Nearly 50 pupils were arrested at Mobile.

Sympathy protests broke out at the still-segregated Ensley and Jones Valley high schools in Birmingham, and a yelling crowd of some 300 teen-agers from the boycotted schools massed in front of still another, Phillips High, demanding that pupils there join the walkout.

Helmeted police rushed to Phillips and sealed off the block surrounding the school while the youthful demonstrators shouted and waved pro-segregation banners and Confederate flags.

Teachers ordered the Phillips pupils back to class, and few of them actually left the school.

The crowd assembled in a park across the street from Phillips, then suddenly dispersed after about 30 minutes, departing in small groups.

Screaming men and women joined the demonstration as it moved from one section of Birmingham to another. Many of them carried the emblem of the militant pro-segregation National States Rights party.

Federalized National Guard troops remained on duty in an armory near the West End school, but did not intervene.

Police called in a fire truck with high pressure water hoses at Murphy High in Mobile, but the water was not turned on. The crowd of white pupils began to break up after about an hour.

Some of the Mobile pupils were arrested when they refused to return to school. They were hauled off in paddy wagons. Principal Raymond B. Taylor said leaders of the demonstration would be dealt with, but he did not elaborate.

Severe Storm Warnings Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Weather Bureau has issued a warning of scattered severe thunderstorms, accompanied by large hail and damaging winds and a tornado or two, for portions of Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania today from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Est.

The storm area extends 60 miles either side of a line running between 45 miles west-northwest of Columbus and 45 miles east-southeast of Pittsburgh.

In Ohio, that includes an area enclosed by a line connecting Findlay, Youngstown, Marietta, Wilmington and back to Findlay.

Emergency Erases Talk on Emergency

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Joseph G. Peil was scheduled to speak to city firemen Wednesday on the subject of emergency birth as part of their extra training.

Dr. Peil didn't show up for the meeting.

The reason—he had to rush to Middletown Hospital to assist in an emergency birth.

First Lady Tells of Plot

Mrs. Nhu Declares Kennedy also Victim

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, black eyes flashing, swore today President Ngo Dinh Diem's government in South Viet Nam would never yield to what she called "perfidious, blackmailing attacks."

Delegates to the Interparliamentary Union gave a thunderous ovation to the powerful, controversial first lady of South Viet Nam, who earlier had told newsmen of an alleged plot she said was directed not only against her family but also against President Kennedy.

Wednesday she called the U.S. President an appeaser for trying to find a compromise solution to the Vietnamese crisis.

Mrs. Nhu, pretty as a picture in pink was the last speaker at the union's opening meeting.

South Viet Nam, she said, has "become an aim of perfidious blackmailing attacks. But we will never yield before this campaign."

"With the aid of friends we will keep our regime, in spite of the war (against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas), with the war and against the war."

She told delegates a democratic revolution has taken place in South Viet Nam and charged: "The affair of the Buddhists has been exploited by reactionaries and counter revolutionaries."

Yugoslav President Tito opened the conference of Parliament members from 61 countries.

Mrs. Nhu told newsmen the world press was unfair to her and her country.

"The plot to discredit us is not only against our government but also against President Kennedy," she said, but refused to elaborate.

Asked why she believes the press to be unfair to her, she answered furiously: "It's the result of a plot of only six men in Saigon." She refused to name the six.

Mrs. Nhu expressed satisfaction that the U.S. State Department has denied reports that the U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had demanded that her husband leave the country.

Mrs. Nhu said that if she visits the United States, she does not intend to see President Kennedy, a man she described as "misinformed about the situation in Viet Nam." The solution, she asserted, "should be to get better information."

"He is a politician and when he hears loud opposition he tries to appease it somehow," the petite, powerful first lady of South Viet Nam said on her arrival in Belgrade Wednesday.

That was her reaction when reporters asked her to comment on the concern voiced by Kennedy about the Buddhist situation in South Viet Nam.

Mrs. Nhu, 38, sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem also had a few words for Pope Paul VI. He also has expressed concern for the plight of the Buddhists. The South Vietnamese government has used strongarm methods in stamping out Buddhist demonstrations for more religious freedom.

She said the pontiff, although not misinformed, "gets easily worried."

French Airliner Crash Is Fatal to 40 Persons

PARIS, France (AP) — A French airliner struck a mountain in southern France today and rescuers who reached the site later reported all 40 persons aboard had perished. There were 36 passengers, all British tourists, and four crew members.

A ground team which had set out from Py for the wreckage of the plane, on rugged 4,800-foot Roc de la Rouquette, advised Gendarmerie headquarters by radio that all aboard had been killed when the plane slammed into the mountain shortly after midnight.

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda today defended Japan's trade with Communist China saying: "Our feet are planted in the free world and we are conducting trade with Red China on a purely commercial basis."

Mystery Cash Donor Leaves Identity Clue

BARNEVELD, Wis. (AP) — Southwestern Wisconsin residents who have received anonymous cash gifts, ranging from $80 to $100, wondered today if they are soon to know the identity of their benefactor.

Another $100 gift has been received, and with it came a clue—the first since the money began arriving without explanation last month. The gifts have been received by 34 persons, both young and old and in all walks of life. In most cases they came at a time when they would be the most help.

The latest recipient is Mrs. Watson, a widow who is secretary of the Barneveld school. She recently underwent surgery.

She received on Tuesday five $20 bills in an envelope postmarked at 5 p. m. Sunday in nearby Mineral Point. A sheet of paper folded around the money carried the printed inscription, "Silence is golden."

Mrs. Watson's address was printed on the envelope, which also provided the first possible hint of the identity of the sender. "Mrs. Harry L. Madison, Wis.," was printed in the upper left-hand corner.

Mrs. Watson said the partial name was not enough for her to make an identification.

Voice of America Hit For Its 'Witchcraft'

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Since the Voice of America increased its transmitting power early this year, primitive villagers in the north have accused the U.S. agency of practicing witchcraft.

It seems that with the boost from 8,000 to 10,000 kilowatts, the stronger radio beams, especially after showers, are picked up by metal objects. This has made radios out of such things as bed springs, and even caused damp leaves to issue a sound resembling an eerie human whisper.

Singer Sinatra Is Claimed Chummy with Crime Overlord

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Frank Sinatra, the gangster singer who branched out as an actor, businessman and gambler, has been threatened with loss of his Nevada gaming license. He is accused of allegedly allowing "one of (America's) crime overlords" to stay on the premises of the Cal-Neva gambling lodge.

The Nevada Gaming Control Board said Sinatra's guest at the showman's Lake Tahoe casino on the California-Nevada state line was Sam Giancana.

A five-point complaint submitted to the State Gaming Commission in Carson City Wednesday described Giancana, 54, of Oak Park, Ill., as "one of the 12 overlords of American crime." On Aug. 6 the Justice Department said Giancana was one of the rulers of the "Casa Nostra — Our Thing" crime syndicate.

Nevada keeps a "Black Book" that currently lists 11 persons, one of them Giancana, as persona non grata. Those listed are banned from any Nevada gaming establishment. Knowingly permitting one of them on the premises is grounds for license revocation, though it is not a criminal offense.

The gaming board's complaint charges Sinatra knowingly played host to Giancana at Cal-Neva, located about 20 miles from Carson City, between last July 17 and July 28. Specifically he is charged with allowing Giancana to stay in one of the chalets adjoining the casino.

The complaint also charges a Sinatra representative, Paul d'Amato with attempting to bribe two state gaming agents who were "performing their official duties of verifying the gross win at the gaming tables at Cal-Neva lodge." The complaint did not elaborate.

Further, Edward Olsen, gaming board chairman, said "Sinatra used vile, obscene, and indecent language, in a tone menacing in the extreme, (constituting) a threat" when Olsen talked with Sinatra by telephone about Giancana on Aug. 31.

The board said Sinatra's partners at the Cal-Neva — Henry Sanicola and Sanford Waterman — were blameless in the housing of Giancana. However, all three would lose their licenses if the commission finds against Sinatra.

A spokesman for the board said Sanicola and Waterman probably would get another license if they applied.

Sinatra owns 50 per cent of Cal-Neva stock and has held his state-line gaming license for three seasons. He got his first Nevada gaming license in 1953 when he bought into the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas. He now owns nine per cent of Sands Stock.

Sinatra has 15 days to file a notice of defense before the commission will act. He is entitled to a hearing by the five-man commission before his license could be revoked. If it is revoked, he can appeal to the Nevada courts.

The Cal-Neva closed last Saturday in what a lodge spokesman described as a regular seasonal closing.

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Thomas Scanlon, torpedoed by a submarine in June 1962, has been awarded $200 damages.

Scanlon, of New Britain, Conn., broke a tooth on a sandwich known variously along the Eastern seaboard as a submarine, grinder and hero.

Circuit Judge Bernard Kosicki ruled for Scanlon Tuesday in a suit against Food Crafts, Inc. of West Hartford.

Kosicki described the type of sandwich in question as "a gustatory extravaganza of regal dimensions and savor. It consists of an elongated roll either hard-crusted or soft, slit longitudinally and filled with an imaginative assortment of meats, condiments and vegetables."

However, the sandwich roll Scanlon tried to bite into was so hard it "was no reasonably fit for human consumption," the judge ruled.

Fred Craig Jr., 22, 950 S. Pickaway St., injured his right arm while working at Container Corporation of America.

Seven Plead Guilty At Arraignments

Seven persons indicted by the September term of the Pickaway County Grand Jury pleaded guilty at their arraignments yesterday morning before Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

Another six persons indicted by the jury entered pleas of innocent and two persons indicted failed to appear, court officials reported.

Arraignment for Grady Smith, Columbus, on a secret indictment was continued until 9:30 a.m. Sept. 21.

Persons pleading guilty to charges in the indictments, along with penalties set by the court are as follows:

RUSSELL Bethel, sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary from 1-20 years on charges of forgery; Leroy Pence, Circleville, was placed on probation for two years by the court on charges of failing to provide for his minor children; Joe H. Lewis Jr. was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail and the court ordered he be examined by three Columbus psychiatrists in lieu of being sent to Lima State Hospital for observation, he was charged with assault on a minor;

3 Negroes Due In College in South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Three Negroes were to attend classes at the University of South Carolina today for the first time in 86 years.

The university was integrated quietly Wednesday with the registration of coed Henri Monteith, 18, of Columbia, Robert G. Anderson, 20, of Greenville, and James Solomon, 33, of Sumter.

Negroes last attended the university in 1877 during the reconstruction period after the Civil war.

About 100 students watched from various parts on the campus as the three Negroes picked up registration papers, visited with deans and paid their fees.

City and state police reinforced campus officers, but they were not needed.
Miss Monteith and Anderson ended their first day on campus with dinner at a student cafeteria. White students sat with them and spoke to them. Several paused at Anderson's table to shake his hand.

The university is the second state-supported white college in South Carolina to be integrated. Clemson College admitted Harvey B. Gantt of Charleston in January.

In Saigon, Viet Nam, bayonet-wielding troops arrested more than 100 teen-age students in a rock-throwing riot at a technical school today.

The riot followed midnight arrests of other students, and a morning of tension between troops and teen-agers at high schools and university faculty branches throughout Saigon.

Student unrest, temporarily squashed last week after more than 2,000 students were arrested, was rising again.

Trucks loaded of riot police and troops in full battle gear roared from one potential trouble spot to another.

At least three soldiers were reported seriously injured, several students were bruised and a deputy provincial chief suffered a bloody nose in an hour-long clash between students and troops at the Secondary School of Decorative Arts.

The first demonstration flared up at the government school of fine arts, where troops arrested seven students after more than 100 had gathered in a noisy demonstration denouncing the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Most medical students at the University of Saigon boycotted term examinations.

More than 2,000 were to take exams and newsmen counted barely 400 who turned up. More than 1,000 students of the university are still believed in jail out of the 2,000 arrested Aug. 25.

Stock Market Tapers Off

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed away slightly from its latest record high in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

The reaction was regarded as typical of the ebb and flow of market movements, analysts said. Steels, motors and rails were among the losers as trading simmered down well below Wednesday's rate of 6.68 million shares.

Rubbers, some papers, tobaccos, utilities and selected chemicals showed plus signs.

The high-flying "glamour" issues were scrambled, wider gains and losses being posted in this sector of the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon took a moderate loss of 81 at 739.53.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 to 28.5 with industrials off .8, rails off .2 and utilities up .2.

Labor Union Racial Curbs under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee wrote a ban on racial discrimination by labor unions into the administration's public accommodations bill today. The vote was 9 to 6.

The measure, a key part of President Kennedy's civil rights program, would prohibit racial discrimination by stores, restaurants and other businesses catering to the public.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, offered the proposal to require that membership in labor unions shall be open to anyone without regard to race, color, religion or national origin.

Parochial School Students Denied Use of Public Buses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Pupils in private and parochial schools cannot be transported in public school buses, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe ruled today.

His opinion, to Medina County Prosecutor James W. Foreman, reaffirms four opinions by previous attorneys general, Saxbe said.

The attorney general said there is no authority in Ohio law for school boards in this state to furnish transportation on public school buses to private and parochial school pupils either voluntarily or by contract.

Foreman asked the attorney general to say whether the Medina City School District board could lease board-owned buses to St. Francis Xavier Parochial School to transport parochial pupils living in the Medina district.

"If such action would be legal," Foreman said, "a committee made up of parents of the parochial school children would pay the school board a fair sum mutually agreed upon for such services. . . during hours which would not conflict with their presence."

The prosecutor also inquired about the legality of using leased buses to transport parochial pupils living outside the Medina school district.

Another question posed was whether the Medina board legally transport parochial pupils living on established bus routes in the district to a public school where those pupils would be taken by other conveyance to parochial schools.

Saxbe said the question arose as to whether boards of education have implied authority to furnish transportation to pupils attending privately controlled and parochial schools.

Saxbe cited earlier attorney general opinions holding that: "Boards of education in providing transportation for pupils attending school are limited to the providing of such transportation for pupils attending schools which are a part of the public school system of the state."

"Pupils attending private schools are not entitled to the use of transportation facilities provided for pupils attending public schools."

"A board of education is not authorized to engage in the business of transporting persons for hire or of using or permitting the use of school buses for the purpose of transporting passengers other than school children to and from public schools or to and from public school functions."

Saxbe said he could conclude only that the opinions "correctly declare the law to be that a board of education may not contract to transport students to privately run may they lease public school system buses for this purpose."

The attorney general said another opinion said school boards lack authority to haul pupils to a school outside their district of residence, unless responsible by law for such expense.

Barry Says Kennedy Solves No Problems

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says that "not one of our problems has been solved by the new frontier."

In a speech Wednesday night to the National Federation of Republican Women, opening a three-day silver anniversary meeting in Chicago, Goldwater attacked the Kennedy administration on all fronts.

"If the new frontier has a purpose, it is to expand the federal government to the point where it can regulate, not govern, the individual lives of all Americans," Goldwater said.

"A 'daddy knows best' attitude" has been adopted by the Kennedy administration, the senator said.

Cop Bags Squirrel With Motorcycle

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Lancaster police Patrolman Bill Schumacher went squirrel hunting Monday. He sat in the woods all morning and didn't even see one of the little varmints.

Afternoon came and he left the woods and reported for duty. A few minutes later, running his motorcycle onto Fifth Avenue, one of the city's heavily traveled streets, a big, red fox squirrel darted from a yard into the path of the cycle.

The Party of the People, an unprecedented attempt to get civilian politicians to work together, split into two factions. Each nominated a candidate for the Oct. 15 presidential election. The split apparently left the 45-year-old Park, candidate of the junta-backed Democratic Republican Party, without serious opposition.

The complaint also charges a Sinatra representative, Paul d'Amato with attempting to bribe two state gaming agents who were "performing their official duties of verifying the gross win at the gaming tables at Cal-Neva lodge." The complaint did not elaborate.

Further, Edward Olsen, gaming board chairman, said "Sinatra used vile, obscene, and indecent language, in a tone menacing in the extreme, (constituting) a threat" when Olsen talked with Sinatra by telephone about Giancana on Aug. 31.

The board said Sinatra's partners at the Cal-Neva — Henry Sanicola and Sanford Waterman — were blameless in the housing of Giancana. However, all three would lose their licenses if the commission finds against Sinatra.

A spokesman for the board said Sanicola and Waterman probably would get another license if they applied.

Sinatra owns 50 per cent of Cal-Neva stock and has held his state-line gaming license for three seasons. He got his first Nevada gaming license in 1953 when he bought into the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas. He now owns nine per cent of Sands Stock.

Sinatra has 15 days to file a notice of defense before the commission will act. He is entitled to a hearing by the five-man commission before his license could be revoked. If it is revoked, he can appeal to the Nevada courts. The Cal-Neva closed last Saturday in what a lodge spokesman described as a regular seasonal closing.

$200 Awarded For Torpedo By Submarine

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Thomas Scanlon, torpedoed by a submarine in June 1962, has been awarded $200 damages.

Scanlon, of New Britain, Conn., broke a tooth on a sandwich known variously along the Eastern seaboard as a submarine, grinder and hero.

Circuit Judge Bernard Kosicki ruled for Scanlon Tuesday in a suit against Food Crafts, Inc. of West Hartford.

Kosicki described the type of sandwich in question as "a gustatory extravaganza of regal dimensions and savor. It consists of an elongated roll either hard-crusted or soft, slit longitudinally and filled with an imaginative assortment of meats, condiments and vegetables.

However, the sandwich roll Scanlon tried to bite into was so hard it "was not reasonably fit for human consumption," the judge ruled.

Seven Plead Guilty At Arraignments

Seven persons indicted by the September term of the Pickaway County Grand Jury pleaded guilty at their arraignments yesterday morning before Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

Another six persons indicted by the jury entered pleas of innocent and two persons indicted failed to appear, court officials reported.

Arraignment for Grady Smith, Columbus, on a secret indictment was continued until 9:30 a.m. Sept. 21.

Persons pleading guilty to charges in the indictments, along with penalties set by the court are as follows:

RUSSELL Bethel, sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary from 1-20 years on charges of forgery; Leroy Pence, Circleville, was placed on probation for two years by the court on charges of failing to provide for his minor children; Joe H. Lewis Jr. was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail and the court ordered he be examined by three Columbus psychiatrists in lieu of being sent to Lima State Hospital for observation, he was charged with assault on a minor;

3 Negroes Due In College in South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Three Negroes were to attend classes at the University of South Carolina today for the first time in 86 years.

The university was integrated quietly Wednesday with the registration of coed Henri Monteith, 18, of Columbia, Robert G. Anderson, 20, of Greenville, and James Solomon, 33, of Sumter.

Negroes last attended the university in 1877 during the reconstruction period after the Civil War.

About 100 students watched from various parts on the campus as the three Negroes picked up registration papers, visited with deans and paid their fees.

City and state police reinforced campus officers, but they were not needed.

Miss Monteith and Anderson ended their first day on campus with dinner at a student cafeteria. White students sat with them and spoke to them. Several paused at Anderson's table to shake his hand.

The university is the second state-supported white college in South Carolina to be integrated. Clemson College admitted Harvey B. Gantt of Charleston in January.

In recent television interviews, Kennedy suggested that certain personnel changes in the Diem government may be advisable to help solve the Buddhist crisis.

Mrs. Nhu declined to comment immediately on Kennedy's suggestion for personnel changes. "We will wait for more details of the statement," she said. "If we can satisfy him, we will do so."

In Saigon, Viet Nam, bayonet-wielding troops arrested more than 100 teen-age students in a rock-throwing riot at a technical school today.

The riot followed midnight arrests of other students, and a morning of tension between troops and teenagers at high schools and university faculty branches throughout Saigon.

Student unrest, temporarily squashed last week after more than 2,000 students were arrested, was rising again.

Trucks loaded with riot police and troops in full battle gear roared from one potential trouble spot to another.

At least three soldiers were reported seriously injured, several students were bruised and a deputy provincial chief suffered a bloody nose in an hour-long clash between students and troops at the Secondary School of Decorative Arts.

The first demonstration flared up at the government school of fine arts, where troops arrested seven students after more than 100 had gathered in a noisy demonstration denouncing the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Most medical students at the University of Saigon boycotted term examinations.

More than 2,000 were to take exams and newsmen counted barely 400 who turned up. More than 1,000 students of the university are still believed in jail out of the 2,000 arrested Aug. 25.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed away slightly from its latest record high in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

The reaction was regarded as typical of the ebb and flow of market movements, analysts said.

Steels, motors and rails were among the losers as trading simmered down well below Wednesday's rate of 6.66 million shares.

Rubbers, some papers, tobaccos, utilities and selected chemicals showed plus signs.

The high-flying "glamour" issues were scrambled, wider gains and losses being posted in this sector of the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon took a moderate loss of 81 at 739.53.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 3 to 28.5 with industrials off .8, rails off .2 and utilities up .2.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee went to a ban on racial discrimination by labor unions into the administration's public accommodations bill today. The vote was 9 to 6.

The measure, a key part of President Kennedy's civil rights program, would prohibit racial discrimination by stores, restaurants and other businesses catering to the public.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, offered the proposal to require that membership in labor unions shall be open to anyone without regard to race, color, religion or national origin.

C and O Control Lights Destroyed. Damage to railway control lights amounting to $177.52 was reported to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department by officials of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

Lights located along the track 1 1/2 miles south of Circleville were shot out, apparently with a 22 caliber rifle according to investigating authorities.

Parochial School Students Denied Use of Public Buses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Pupils in private and parochial schools cannot be transported in public school buses, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe ruled today.

His opinion, to Medina County Prosecutor James W. Foreman, reaffirms four opinions by previous attorneys general, Saxbe said.

The attorney general said there is no authority in Ohio law for school boards in this state to furnish transportation on public school buses to private and parochial school pupils either voluntarily or by contract.

Foreman asked the attorney general to say whether the Medina City School District board could lease board-owned buses to St. Francis Xavier Parochial School to transport parochial pupils living in the Medina district.

"If such action would be legal," Foreman said, "a committee made up of parents of the parochial school children would pay the school board a fair sum mutually agreed upon for such bus services."

during hours which would not conflict with their present use."

The prosecutor also inquired about the legality of using leased buses to transport parochial pupils living outside the Medina school district.

Another question posed was whether the Medina board legally transport parochial pupils living on established bus routes in the district to a public school where those pupils would be taken by other conveyance to parochial schools.

Saxbe said the question arose as to whether boards of education have implied authority to furnish transportation to pupils attending privately controlled and parochial schools.

Saxbe cited earlier attorney general opinions holding that: "Boards of education in providing transportation for pupils attending school are limited to the providing of such transportation for pupils attending schools which are a part of the public school system of the state."

"Pupils attending private schools are not entitled to the use of transportation facilities provided for pupils attending public schools."

"A board of education is not authorized to engage in the business of transporting persons for hire or of using or permitting the use of school buses for the purpose of transporting passengers other than school children to and from public schools or to and from public school functions."

Saxbe said he could conclude only that the opinions "correctly declare the law to be that a board of education may not contract to transport students to privately nor may they lease public school system buses for this purpose."

The attorney general said another opinion said school boards lack authority to haul pupils to a school outside their district of residence, unless responsible by law for such expense.

Barry Says Kennedy Solves No Problems

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says that "not one of our problems has been solved by the new frontier."

In a speech Wednesday night to the National Federation of Republican Women, opening a three-day silver anniversary meeting in Chicago, Goldwater attacked the Kennedy administration on all fronts.

"If the new frontier has a purpose, it is to expand the federal government to the point where it can regulate, not govern, the individual lives of all Americans," Goldwater said.

"A 'daddy knows best' attitude' has been adopted by the Kennedy administration, the senator said.

Cop Bags Squirrel With Motorcycle

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Lancaster police Patrolman Bill Schumacher went squirrel hunting Monday. He sat in the woods all morning and didn't even see one of the little varmints.

Afternoon came and he left the woods and reported for duty. A few minutes later, running his motorcycle onto Fifth Avenue, one of the city's heavily traveled streets, a big, red fox squirrel darted from a yard into the path of the cycle.

Korean Political Unity Chilled by Fisticuffs

SEOUL (AP)—An attempt by feuding politicians to unite behind a single presidential candidate to oppose junta chief Chung Hee Park ended today amid fisticuffs.

The Party of the People, an unprecedented attempt to get civilian politicians to work together, split into two factions. Each nominated a candidate for the Oct. 15 presidential election. The split apparently left the 45-year-old Park, candidate of the junta-backed Democratic Republican Party, without serious opposition.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-6111

The first meeting of the Ashville PTA for the new school year will be held Sept. 19 at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium. Introduction of teachers will follow the business meeting.

All parents of pupils attending the grade school are invited to attend and take part in this phase of the school program. It is hoped that baby sitting can be provided at the school for pre-school youngsters, whose parents are in attendance.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand Friday evening at the Teays Valley Athletic Field for the opening home football game when Teays Valley meets Circleville with play time scheduled for 8 p. m.

Additional bleacher seats have been purchased by the school board and have been promised to be ready for the Friday evening tilt.

Beniz Lutz announced a change in this year ticket sales with one-dollar admission charge for both adults and students at the gate. Advance ticket sales will be held prior to the home games in the Teays Valley Schools for all students at a cost of 50 cents.

Teays Valley won their opening game last Friday evening when they downed Amanda-Clearcreek at Amanda, 22-12.

The Ashville Girl Scout Neighborhood Assn. will meet Monday evening Sept. 16, at 7:30 p. m. at the Methodist Church. All leaders, neighborhood chairmen and troop committee members are asked to be present.

The birthday of Mrs. Walter Hedges was observed Saturday at the Community Park Shelter House with a family picnic. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCabe and Cynthia; Mr. and Mrs. Roddy Cook, Tommy and Susan; Mr. and Mrs. Wirt Whittaker, Scott and Mark; all of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Call, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Stella McCann; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hedges; Howard Hedges; Mrs. Roger Hedges and Don; Mr. and Mrs. John Sabine, Susan and Jerry; and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hedges, Benton, Barbara and Bill, all of Ashville.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance moved Jim Toole of South Bloomfield, from Mercy Hospital to a rest home in Circleville.

Laid-Off State Aides Given Right To Court Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 10th District Court of Appeals in a ruling issued Tuesday said a state employee whose layoff is upheld by the State Personnel Board of Review may appeal to Common Pleas Court.

The ruling could open the door for many persons laid off in the state's austerity drive to go to court in an attempt to get their jobs back.

Britton Kendrick of Middletown, a former right-of-way agent for the Department of Highways, was laid off Jan. 17. He appealed to the board of review which upheld the layoff. Britton questioned whether he could appeal to the Common Pleas Court since it had not been determined if laid off employees had the right to appeal a review board decision.

The Hill - Burton Hospital program has 71.3 per cent of its projects in towns of less than 5,000 population, which emphasizes the need for hospital facilities in rural areas and relatively small communities.

The 1941 class of Ashville High School held its annual reunion Sept. 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jones (Jane Stevenson). Harrisburg Pike, Grove City. Eleven class members and their families spent the day reminiscing and participating in various games. Youngest person present was three-week-old Charles Lewis Murray.

Those attending were: Miss Helen Bowers, Mrs. Jack Selander (Jessie Baum) Mike, Joan, and Ann; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Neff, Pam, Penny and Paula; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heil (Esther Smith) and Janice; Mr. and Mrs. Warren White, Judy and Jerry, all of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Strawser (Beatrice Kibbie), Connie and Ruth, Reynoldsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sawyer, Groveport; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Murray, Darrell, Charles, Kathy, Linda and Brenda, Lancaster; Miss Doris Cline; Mr. and Mrs. Orfan Hines, Bob, John and Billy; Mr. and Mrs. John Sabine (Marilyn Hedges), Susan and Jerry, all of Ashville; and the hosts and their children, Chris, Sally, Rick and John.

Parents of children who are members of the Junior Youth Fellowship of the Ashville Methodist Church are asked to meet Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. at the church parsonage to discuss the reorganizing of the group.

The Luther League of the First English Lutheran Church will resume meetings starting this Sunday evening when they will meet at the church at 6:30 p. m. All young people of the church are urged to attend.

A study course is being offered to the public, sponsored by the Ashville and Hedges Chapel Methodist Churches, with the first course starting Sept. 18, at the Ashville church, beginning at 7:30 p. m. and at the Hedges Chapel Church on Sept. 20 at 1:30 p. m.

The course will be held for four weeks for an hour and a half each week. Topic for the first week will be "The Christian Family and Its Money". Everyone in the community is invited to take part in these discussions.

The Ashville Kiwanis Club met Sept. 3 at the Bastian Coffee Shop. The program was a film titled "The Twelve Month Summer", sponsored by Gene Vonins of the Farm Bureau Co-op Dehydrator Plant, Route 2, Ashville, and club members. It showed the importance of dehydrated alfalfa and was produced by the American Dehydrators Assn.

Visitors attending were Tom Bennett and Keith Wagner of the Circleville club and Dick Pobst of Route 2, Ashville.

Plans were made for the Ashville Club to attend the division council meeting on Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, at Rush and Opal's Party Home in Grove City, with the Grove City club being the hosts. This meeting will take place of the regular weekly meeting. Highlights of the Council meeting will be the final plans for Kids Day at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Sept. 21. This is sponsored by both 10-E and 10-W district. Also Lt. Governor Watts will report on revision plans.

At the regular meeting on Sept. 17 the election of officers will be conducted with the following slate of officers being proposed: directors — Beniz Lutz, Claude Kraft, David Kraft, Gene Vonins, Dorwin Hay, Warren Bastian, R. E. Featheringham, Marion Waits, Donald Hedges and Dayton Sheets, with seven being elected.

Officers — Siebert Duvall, president; Howard Hosler, first vice-president; Hal Richard, Don Collins, second vice-president, with one being elected, and Robert Glick, treasurer.

Billy Graham, Jack Benny To Trade Jokes on TV Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Billy Graham, who has calmly faced millions in person and on television, is nervous—he's going to trade jokes with Jack Benny.

"And he's not half as nervous as I am," says Benny, who once had former President Harry S. Truman as a guest on his CBS-TV show.

Benny, who is Jewish, was on the platform with the evangelist last Sunday night when 134,254 people jammed Los Angeles Coliseum for the windup of the Graham crusade.

Dr. Graham will tape the show Friday for airing Sept. 24.

"I have been on all kinds of television programs but usually just as a guest being interviewed," says Graham. "I've never been a comedian before."

"When Jack asked me, I accepted because he is such a wonderful man, a man of great character who has given so much of his time and talent to make the world forget its troubles."

"I told him that I have been a fan of his since I was 5 years old—which is hard to do since I'm 44 and he's 39."

A sample of the dialogue between Benny and Graham:

Benny: "I was so nervous when I called you. But I guess you didn't detect it."

Graham: "Yes, I did."

Jack: "How?"

Graham: "After the conversation, you reversed the charges."

Benny: "Well, I—I always do that."

Graham: "On a local call?"

Graham tells Benny he has always considered him a very fine violinist.

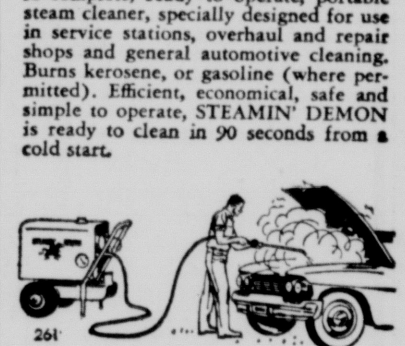

This so shakes up Benny that—for the first time in his long radio and television career—he admits that he is over 39.

"I'm really 47," quips Jack. To which Graham counters:

"Jack, I'd suggest that you come to some of my meetings."

Group Holds Memorial Service, Meet

The Major John Boggs Chapter United States Daughters of 1812 met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. B. T. Hedges, 134 Watt St., with 12 members and one guest present.

Mrs. Donald Watt, president, opened the meeting in ritualistic order. She was assisted by Mrs. E. E. Wolfe, chaplain who led in the salute to the flag of the United States of America.

Secretary and treasurer reports were read. An invitation was read to attend a luncheon as guests of Major Samuel Myers Chapter, Washington C. H.

Mrs. Watt, past state president, attended the all-day state board meeting held Tuesday at the Desher Hilton Hotel, Columbus, as requested by the late Laura Millar King, past state president, who asked that she personally turn over to state headquarters all pins earned by her in recognition for services rendered.

Mrs. Paul Gearhart, Route 1, Chillicothe, was in charge of national defense. Mrs. Charles Pugsley, Route 4, presented and interesting and informative paper on the Constitution of the United States of America and noted that the week of Sept. 17 is designated as Constitution Week.

A dessert course was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. George Roth, Mrs. Ray Harden, Mrs. James Adams and Mrs. Ella Hornbeck.

The group then conducted memorial services and placed markers on the graves of Mrs. Fern Dennis Briggs and Mrs. Laura Millar King in Forest Cemetery.

Basket Dinner Conducted by Roundtown Club

Mrs. Dan Eitel, E. Mound St. entertained members of the Roundtown Busy Bees. A basket dinner was enjoyed.

Mrs. John Dixon, president, opened the meeting. Mrs. Christian Schwartz, secretary, reported. The program was based on parliamentary procedure and small group productivity.

Mrs. L. E. Foreman resigned as publicity chairman and was replaced by Mrs. D. E. Hickey and Mrs. Eva Black.

Members were invited to be luncheon guests Oct. 8 of the Duval Do-All Extension Group.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Not for Real!

DEAR ABBY: I gave my fiancée a ring which I considered adequate for the time being. (I bought it at a loan shop.) I told her when I gave it to her that I knew it wasn't much, but I'd get her a better one when I could afford it. She accepted it, wore it for a week and then she returned it to me saying her mother had had it appraised and it was a fake diamond. She said I had cheapened her before her family and friends, and then she dropped me like a red hot poker. I am a commissioned officer in the state militia, and am supposed to be a leader of men, and this has made me look pretty foolish. My question is, was it proper etiquette for her mother to have the ring appraised?

TURNUED DOWN
DEAR TURNED: NO! But don't waste any tears over this. The girl wasn't real, either.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is being married. An aunt of mine belongs to the Moose. Neither my husband nor I belong, and we don't know anyone else who does. This aunt told my daughter that she is going to give her a wedding shower and invite all the ladies from the Moose. She says then she will find out who her friends are. I was furious when my daughter told me this, and said I wouldn't stand for it. We don't want these people who have never met my daughter to buy gifts for her. How

Mrs. Watt To Host DAR Session Tuesday

Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will meet 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Donald Watt, 540 N. Court St.

A highlight of the meeting will be a program in keeping with the celebration of Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, and will be presented by the DAR Chapter under the supervision of Mrs. Richard Hedges.

Members are reminded to bring discarded nylon hose to send to Bacone Indian College.

DAR Unit To Host Meet in Marietta

The Marietta Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be hostess to the southeast district, of which the Pickaway Plains Chapter is a member, Sept. 24 in the First Congregational Church, 318 Front St. Marietta.

The coffee hour will start at 9 a. m., the meeting will begin at 10 a. m. and a luncheon will be served at noon.

Reservations must be made by Tuesday with Mrs. O. J. Towers, 321 E. Union St., GR 4-2953, or Mrs. Christian Schwartz, 147 Watt St., GR 4-4189.

Wardell Reunion Is Held at Gold Cliff Park

The family reunion of Thomas Wardell Sr., was held recently at Gold Cliff Park with 56 present. Mrs. Thomas Wardell Sr., 85, was the eldest member attending and Cherri Lynn Immell, three-week old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Immell, was the youngest. Those attending who were related to Mrs. Wardell included five children, 16 grandchildren and 35 great-grandchildren.

Present were, Ida Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Gifford and children, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wardell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fee and sons, Mrs. Marjorie Warner and children all from Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. George Immell and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Immell and children, Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wise, cup, Oxford; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wardell and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Wardell, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wardell and children, Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Kent Zwayner and children, Duval; Thomas Wardell Jr., Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Don Fee and family, South Point, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Downs and sons, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Downs and children, Orient.

Dear Abby: Not for Real!

DEAR ABBY: I gave my fiancée a ring which I considered adequate for the time being. (I bought it at a loan shop.) I told her when I gave it to her that I knew it wasn't much, but I'd get her a better one when I could afford it. She accepted it, wore it for a week and then she returned it to me saying her mother had had it appraised and it was a fake diamond. She said I had cheapened her before her family and friends, and then she dropped me like a red hot poker. I am a commissioned officer in the state militia, and am supposed to be a leader of men, and this has made me look pretty foolish. My question is, was it proper etiquette for her mother to have the ring appraised?

TURNUED DOWN
DEAR TURNED: NO! But don't waste any tears over this. The girl wasn't real, either.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is being married. An aunt of mine belongs to the Moose. Neither my husband nor I belong, and we don't know anyone else who does. This aunt told my daughter that she is going to give her a wedding shower and invite all the ladies from the Moose. She says then she will find out who her friends are. I was furious when my daughter told me this, and said I wouldn't stand for it. We don't want these people who have never met my daughter to buy gifts for her. How

Mrs. Watt To Host DAR Session Tuesday

Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will meet 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Donald Watt, 540 N. Court St.

A highlight of the meeting will be a program in keeping with the celebration of Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, and will be presented by the DAR Chapter under the supervision of Mrs. Richard Hedges.

Members are reminded to bring discarded nylon hose to send to Bacone Indian College.

DAR Unit To Host Meet in Marietta

The Marietta Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be hostess to the southeast district, of which the Pickaway Plains Chapter is a member, Sept. 24 in the First Congregational Church, 318 Front St. Marietta.

The coffee hour will start at 9 a. m., the meeting will begin at 10 a. m. and a luncheon will be served at noon.

Reservations must be made by Tuesday with Mrs. O. J. Towers, 321 E. Union St., GR 4-2953, or Mrs. Christian Schwartz, 147 Watt St., GR 4-4189.

can I tell my aunt NO without hard feelings?

BURBANK
DEAR BURBANK: Tell her you appreciate her kindness, but she will have to find out who her friends are some other way. It is considered poor taste for relatives to give showers.

DEAR ABBY: When I first started to date I never went out with a boy who smoked because the smell of cigarette smoke on someone's breath made me sick. When I married my husband he didn't smoke, but about two years ago he took up the habit. I haven't enjoyed his kisses since, and he knows it. He has tried all the mouth washes, etc., but his kisses still have that cigarette flavor and I hate it. When I was pregnant (last year) it made me so nauseated I was actually sick. I have even tried to learn to smoke but I can't. Am I nuts?

MARCIE
DEAR MARCIE: No. Your husband is.

Wardell Reunion Is Held at Gold Cliff Park

The family reunion of Thomas Wardell Sr., was held recently at Gold Cliff Park with 56 present. Mrs. Thomas Wardell Sr., 85, was the eldest member attending and Cherri Lynn Immell, three-week old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Immell, was the youngest. Those attending who were related to Mrs. Wardell included five children, 16 grandchildren and 35 great-grandchildren.

Present were, Ida Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Gifford and children, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wardell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fee and sons, Mrs. Marjorie Warner and children all from Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. George Immell and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Immell and children, Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wise, cup, Oxford; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wardell and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Wardell, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wardell and children, Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Kent Zwayner and children, Duval; Thomas Wardell Jr., Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Don Fee and family, South Point, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Downs and sons, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Downs and children, Orient.

Add both curry powder and chopped chutney (with a little of the chutney syrup) to mayonnaise and serve with a platter of cold sliced chicken and turkey plus cooked rice and vegetable salad.

Bake a big ham loaf and save half of it to serve cold.

QUINTUPLETS—The five quintuplet babies born to Mr. and Mrs. Efrén Prieto (upper) are shown resting quietly in their hospital incubator in Maracaibo, Venezuela. They were born two months premature. Mrs. Prieto has seven other children. The babies weighed about three and a half pounds each. Prieto is a $350-a-month oil field worker.

Crusader Class Has Meeting

The Crusader Class of Calvary EUB Church met at Gold Cliff Park for a covered dish supper with 15 members and eight children present. Mr. and Mrs. Marion DeLong were hosts.

Margie DeLong, president, presided. Opening remarks were given by the Rev. Harold Dutt. Mrs. Ralph Diltz led devotions and read a poem "Something Good About You".

A thank you note was received from Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerlach and the meeting closed with prayer.

The remainder of the evening was spent at the roller skating rink.

If you want miniature shells for canapes, drop half-teaspoonfuls of cream-puff batter onto a greased baking sheet, leaving room for spreading. Bake in a 400-degree oven for about 5 minutes.

New Fabrics Designed for Lots of Wear

By ELEANOR ROSS

There just isn't any such thing as a plain fabric in current yard goods. You can find plain colors, of course, but the material itself, its weave and surface, is anything but plain.

Even the simplest fabric has something interesting in the way of texture. It will have a special weave, a slubbed effect, wide or narrow wales or a nubby surface — all of which add a great deal of beauty and richness, even in the sheerest fabrics.

As for patterns, the plaids are mad; the checks are neat and floral prints are staging a comeback, but not the huge, vivid prints. After all, a season without flowered fabrics would be such a calamity that not even the high-style designers would care to risk it.

Fabric designs are practically overflowing with blossoms — some woven, others in print. Columns of flowers, all-over petal prints, branches and twigs with flowers, fruits with flowers — we've seen 'em all.

Some are overdone, it's true, but even a quick look should reveal the ideal floral print.

The same goes for the beautiful floral prints for draperies now on the market. These lovely washables include exciting new textures, too.

The "silk look" is very much to the fore this season. Sometimes it's actually a blend of rayon-acetate silk, but it offers very effective and very chic competition for the real thing.

Drapery fabric materials tend to be darker as the floral prints grow more vivid. Dark olive greens, browns, cocoas and grays are used with traditional prints, while beige and gold or white are backgrounds for the more modern florals.

Easy washability, of course, is an attribute that most of these new fabrics take pride in proclaiming. For what homemaker wants to live with wilted flowers?

If you plan to make your own draperies, be sure to look for machine-washability first of all. And when you shop for accessories, such as headings and facings, and pull-cords, be sure that they too, are just as washable.

As for dress fabrics, this is a big season for linen that ranges in weight from handkerchief types for blouses through coating and suiting weights. Many are all-over embroidered and there are some exquisite linen prints.

Every year, improved or new finishes make fabrics stay fresher and more wrinkle-free and wash cleaner in quicker time.

Women who make much of their own or their family's clothing can get to work with a light heart. All the planning and stitching and doing is well worth the effort, because these new fabrics are designed for a lot of washing and a lot of wearing.

Annual Fall Picnic Held By Sorority

The annual fall picnic of the Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma was held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Lewis Brevard, Dunkel Road.

Teachers of Pickaway County who attended were: Mrs. Florence Baker, South Court School, Mrs. Elizabeth Beatty, Ashville, Mrs. Paul Brobst, Circleville High, Mrs. Robert Bush, Williamsport, Mrs. Ward Cross, Stoutsville, Mrs. Ben Grace, Scioto, Mrs. Harry Kern Atwater, Mrs. George McGhee, Atlanta, Miss Amy Miga, Franklin Street, Mrs. Ben Nothstine, Ashville, Mrs. Charles Towler, Monroe, Mrs. Charles Schiebor and Mrs. Robert Tacy, not teaching at present.

Mrs. Brevard, president, conducted the business session. Miss Miga, secretary, and Mrs. Dresbach, treasurer, reported. The first vice-president, Mrs. Beatty, took charge of the evening program. She introduced Mrs. Towler who spoke on "Women's Suffrage" and Mrs. Bush spoke on the subject, "Women Doctors in Spite of Everything."

Announcement was made that Mrs. James Scott, third grade teacher at Atwater and past-president of Beta Rho, has been nominated for the executive committee of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association.

The program was completed with the showing of movies taken by the delegates to the Delta Kappa Gamma regional conference in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. Four members attended the conference in August where more than 700 teachers gathered from twenty-one states and four provinces of Canada.

Roundtown GC Members Plan Coming Events

The Roundtown Garden Club met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Hettinger. Roll call was answered with each member naming a favorite fruit for use in an arrangement.

Mrs. Gail Wolfe, president, conducted the business session. An invitation was read inviting members to enter the Strolling Flower Show to be held Oct. 4-5 at the Great Southern Shopping Center. The group will meet Oct. 7 in the home of Mrs. William Blaney for a field trip.

Tentative plans were made for the 3rd annual Christmas Flower Show in December. Chairman will be Mrs. J. E. Petters assisted by Mrs. Robert Hettinger and Mrs. James Crabtree.

Mrs. Merle Swank and Mrs. Roger Roof made several arrangements.

Members were asked to volunteer to help with the Pumpkin Show Flower display and schedules were distributed.

A products party will be held at the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Roof.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wolfe.

Group Schedules Meeting Tomorrow

Twig No. 1 of Mound St. Home and Hospital will meet 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Edgar Carmean, 225 E. Franklin St.

Officers Named By Democratic Women's Club

The Democratic Women's Club met in the court room Tuesday. Yearly reports were given and new officers were named. Mrs. Geneva Brink, president, opened the meeting with Margaret Remy leading the group in the pledge to the flag.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read, and the treasurer's report was given by Jo Ann Brink.

The annual fall meeting of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio will be held Friday and Saturday in Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Brink appointed the following to attend the convention: Doris May, Leona Hedges, Grace DeLong, Mary Kennedy and Jo Ann Brink, delegates; Hazel Yeatts, Mrs. Neff, Elizabeth Bower, Louise Kennedy and Lorraine Hatcher alternates.

The following officers were elected: Doris May, president; Margaret Remy, first vice president; Grace DeLong, second vice president; Hazel Yeatts, third vice president; Maxine Radcliff, recording secretary; Mary Grubb, corresponding secretary; Mary Kennedy, treasurer; Margaret Shadley, financial secretary; Jo Ann Brink, pianist; Maxine Radcliff, news reporter; Kathleen Jenkins, historian.

Trustees are Martha Purcell, Frances Young and Leona Riegel. Mrs. Brink was presented a gift from the group.

A carry in dinner was planned for November with the following committee in charge: Hazel Yeatts chairman, Mildred Davis, Kathleen Jenkins and Mrs. Stonerock.

Circle No. 1 Officers Named

Circle No. 1 of the First Methodist Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Richard Hartman, 106 Wilson Ave.

Mrs. Eugene Petty, chairman, announced officers for the year as follows: Mrs. Edward Hart, co-chairman; Mrs. Tom Ramsey, secretary; Mrs. Richard Hartman, financial chairman; Miss Eloise Hanley, cultivation; Mrs. David La Bounty, local church activities; Mrs. J.B. Work, christian social relations.

Mrs. Hart led the devotions and read for the Scripture, Matthew 4:18-19.

The program for the coming year was discussed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Francis Cook and Mrs. C. S. Dillie.

East German Revolt Doubted

No Evidence Found By Visiting Reporter

BERLIN (AP) — Dissatisfaction of the East German people with the Communist regime continues to be widespread, but after a week behind the iron curtain this reporter found no evidence that a new revolt is brewing.

The morale of the people, despite tough political pressures and scarcity of certain essential food items, seemed higher than it was seven months ago when I last visited East Germany.

Because of the unusually severe winter and its resulting serious fuel and food shortages, the people's mood then was explosive.

But East Germany since has had a good harvest and there certainly are no shortages of such staples as bread and potatoes.

On the other hand, butter continues to be expensive and short in supply — one half pound being allotted per person every 10 days.

Fresh meat also is scarce but all kinds of sausage were abundantly available.

While complaints about food and other consumer goods have decreased since last winter, there is increased bitterness over political pressures.

Factory workers, probably because of the forthcoming general election, are subjected to at least two political meetings a week.

In a conversation with two ranking government officials, this correspondent invited them tongue-in-cheek to a dinner in West Berlin.

Both avoided saying that the red wall dividing the city would prevent them.

Instead, one answered this way: "I really have no desire to come to West Berlin. I get enough money and my wife gets enough money. We have a nice house near a lake and we have a sailboat."

The second official said something similar. Neither one said anything about being convinced Communists.

Even if the climate at this time was such that the people wanted to revolt, the presence of 20 Soviet divisions and thousands of East German police and army troops keeps everyone in line.

WSCS Circle Members Meet

Circle No. 3 of the WSCS of First Methodist Church met yesterday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Irene Jenkins and Miss Nellie Palm, E. High St., with 15 members and one guest present.

Mrs. H. D. Stansbury, chairman, opened the meeting with prayer. She announced that Christmas cards depicting the candlelight service at the local church are to be sold by the WSCS.

Mrs. Dan Eitel presented devotions. A pledge service with members of the Circle taking part was conducted by Mrs. C. O. Schweitzer.

A social hour was enjoyed with refreshments served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Jenkins, Miss Palm, Mrs. Dorothy Adkins and Mrs. Stansbury.

Briley Blames Congress for High Spending

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The United States is "suffering from the ulcers of unrestrained federal spending at home and abroad," John Marshall Briley, a Toledo glass company executive, told the Credit Association of Northwestern Ohio Wednesday night.

"It does no good to blame the administration," said Briley, unsuccessful Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate last fall. "I say the Congress, having the power of the purse and failing to live up to its responsibility, is more to blame than any administration."

He said a balanced budget and a plan to reduce the national debt would cut down the drain on the U. S. gold supply.

"If this country loses the balance of its gold reserve, or, as is more likely, has to embargo gold to prevent its loss," Briley said, "we will then be under the unpleasant necessity of having to live within our international income."

"Our ability to import will be limited by our ability to export; our ability to fight a war or to defend ourselves or to help 'neutrals' resist communism, will be severely limited."

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Weather Bureau's summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

At sunrise this morning, with temperatures in the high 60s and low 70s, it was quite a contrast to the cool 50s of 24 hours ago.

Skies around Ohio ranged clear at Dayton and Findlay to a solid cloud cover at Toledo. The coolest spot this morning was Youngstown which registered 68 degrees. Chesapeake at the same time had a warm 75. Cincinnati 73, Columbus 70, Cleveland and Dayton 69.

This morning a line of thunderstorms went through the Ohio area about 3 a.m. and the rainfall amounts were in the neighborhood of two-tenths of an inch at most reporting stations.

The morning weather map has a high pressure area in the Canadian provinces north of the Dakotas pushing into the United States. A fairly strong cold front was across the upper portion of Lower Michigan and central Wisconsin and will pass through Ohio this afternoon, bringing some marked lowering of the temperatures.

Always scrub zucchini well when it is to be cooked unpeeled; cold water and a vegetable brush will remove any grit.

Don't pay any attention when small fry let ice-cream-in-a-bowl get soft — they like it this way!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

KENNEDYS: President Kennedy flies to Newport, R.I., late today to join his wife in observing their 10th wedding anniversary.

The White House gave out no information about the Kennedys' plans for celebrating their anniversary. The President plans to return to Washington Monday.

DRUGS: Senate antitrust investigators plan a preliminary probe into reports that some big U.S. drug firms tried to block the cut-rate sale of American drugs in South America.

Chairman Philip A. Hart of the antitrust subcommittee said closed hearings will be held to determine whether a full-scale investigation is justified.

PAYMENTS: The United States reportedly plans to ask 92 other nations to join in studying ways to modernize the non-Communist world's system of exchanging money and credit to keep pace with the rapid expansion of international trade.

Government sources say they have high hopes that the U.S. proposal will be accepted at the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank here Sept. 30.

"FLY ANYWHERE": The "fly anywhere" tour bargain for foreign visitors, put into effect Sept. 1 by 12 American local service airlines, hit Europe "like a bombshell," says Voit Gilmore, director of the U.S. Travel Service.

Touting it as "the world's greatest travel bargain," Gilmore said at a reception Wednesday night the special fare "is one of the greatest boosts to U.S. tourism since the government launched its 'Visit U.S.A.' campaign two years ago."

Annual Fall Picnic Held By Sorority

The annual fall picnic of the Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma was held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Lewis Brevard, Dunkel Road.

Teachers of Pickaway County who attended were: Mrs. Florence Baker, South Court School, Mrs. Elizabeth Beatty, Ashville, Mrs. Paul Brobst, Circleville High, Mrs. Robert Bush, Williamsport, Mrs. Ward Cross, Stoutsville, Mrs. John Dowler, Scioto, Mrs. Judd Dresbach, Teays Valley, Mrs. Ben Grace, Scioto, Mrs. Harry Kern Atwater, Mrs. George McGhee, Atlanta, Miss Amy Miga, Franklin Street, Mrs. Ben Nothstein, Ashville, Mrs. Charles Towler, Monroe, Mrs. Charles Schieber and Mrs. Robert Tacy, not teaching at present.

Mrs. Brevard, president, conducted the business session. Miss Miga, secretary, and Mrs. Dresbach, treasurer, reported. The first vice-president, Mrs. Beatty, took charge of the evening program. She introduced Mrs. Towler who spoke on "Women's Suffrage" and Mrs. Bush spoke on the subject, "Women Doctors in Spite of Everything."

Announcement was made that Mrs. James Scott, third grade teacher at Atwater and past-president of Beta Rho, has been nominated for the executive committee of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association.

The program was completed with the showing of movies taken by the delegates to the Delta Kappa Gamma regional conference in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. Four members attended the conference in August where more than 700 teachers gathered from twenty-one states and four provinces of Canada.

Roundtown GC Members Plan Coming Events

The Roundtown Garden Club met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Hettinger. Roll call was answered with each member naming a favorite fruit for use in an arrangement.

Mrs. Gail Wolfe, president, conducted the business session. An invitation was read inviting members to enter the Strolling Flower Show to be held Oct. 4-5 at the Great Southern Shopping Center. The group will meet Oct. 7 in the home of Mrs. William Blaney for a field trip.

Tentative plans were made for the 3rd annual Christmas Flower Show in December. Chairman will be Mrs. J. E. Peters assisted by Mrs. Robert Hettinger and Mrs. James Crabtree.

Mrs. Merle Swank and Mrs. Roger Roof made several arrangements.

Members were asked to volunteer to help with the Pumpkin Show Flower display and schedules were distributed.

A products party will be held at the next meeting in the home of Mrs. Roof.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wolfe.

Group Schedules Meeting Tomorrow

Twig No. 1 of Mound St. Home and Hospital will meet 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Edgar Carmean, 225 E. Franklin St.

As a rule, it's best to treat waffle batter like muffin batter: do not beat until smooth. Small lumps will disappear and with little beating the waffles and muffins have a good chance of being tender after they're baked.

Officers Named By Democratic Women's Club

The Democratic Women's Club met in the court room Tuesday. Yearly reports were given and new officers were named. Mrs. Geneva Brink, president, opened the meeting with Margaret Remy leading the group in the pledge to the flag.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read, and the treasurer's report was given by Jo Ann Brink.

The annual fall meeting of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio will be held Friday and Saturday in Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Brink appointed the following to attend the convention: Doris May, Leona Hedges, Grace DeLong, Mary Kennedy and Jo Ann Brink, delegates; Hazel Yeatts, May Neff, Elizabeth Bower, Louise Kennedy and Lorraine Hatcher, alternates.

The following officers were elected: Doris May, president; Margaret Remy, first vice president; Grace DeLong, second vice president; Hazel Yeatts, third vice president; Maxine Radcliff, recording secretary; Mary Grubb, corresponding secretary; Mary Kennedy, treasurer; Margaret Shadley, financial secretary; Jo Ann Brink, pianist; Maxine Radcliff, news reporter; Kathleen Jenkins, historian.

Trustees are Martha Purcell, Frances Young and Leona Riegel.

Mrs. Brink was presented a gift from the group.

A carry in dinner was planned for November with the following committee in charge: Hazel Yeatts chairman, Mildred Davis, Kathleen Jenkins and Mrs. Stonerock.

Circle No. 1 Officers Named

Circle No. 1 of the First Methodist Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Richard Hartman, 106 Wilson Ave.

Mrs. Eugene Petty, chairman, announced officers for the year as follows: Mrs. Edward Hart, co-chairman; Mrs. Tom Ramsey, secretary; Mrs. Richard Hartman, financial chairman; Miss Eloise Hanley, cultivation; Mrs. David La Bounty, local church activities; Mrs. J.B. Work, christian social relations.

Mrs. Hart led the devotions and read for the Scripture, Matthew 4:18-19.

The program for the coming year was discussed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Francis Cook and Mrs. C. S. Dillie.

East German Revolt Doubted

No Evidence Found
By Visiting Reporter

BERLIN (AP) — Dissatisfaction of the East German people with the Communist regime continues to be widespread, but after a week behind the iron curtain this reporter found no evidence that a new revolt is brewing.

The morale of the people, despite tough political pressures and scarcity of certain essential food items, seemed higher than it was seven months ago when I last visited East Germany.

Because of the unusually severe winter and its resulting serious fuel and food shortages, the people's mood then was explosive.

But East Germany since has had a good harvest and there certainly are no shortages of such staples as bread and potatoes.

On the other hand, butter continues to be expensive and short in supply — one half pound being allotted per person every 10 days.

Fresh meat also is scarce but all kinds of sausage were abundantly available.

While complaints about food and other consumer goods have decreased since last winter, there is increased bitterness over political pressures.

Factory workers, probably because of the forthcoming general election, are subjected to at least two political meetings a week.

In a conversation with two ranking government officials, this correspondent invited them tongue-in-cheek to a dinner in West Berlin.

Both avoided saying that the red wall dividing the city would prevent them.

Instead, one answered this way: "I really have no desire to come to West Berlin. I get enough money and my wife gets enough money. We have a nice house near a lake and we have a sailboat."

The second official said something similar. Neither one said anything about being convinced Communists.

Even if the climate at this time was such that the people wanted to revolt, the presence of 20 Soviet divisions and thousands of East German police and army troops keeps everyone in line.

WSCS Circle Members Meet

Circle No. 3 of the WSCS of First Methodist Church met yesterday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Irene Jenkins and Miss Nellie Palm, E. High St., with 15 members and one guest present.

Mrs. H. D. Stansbury, chairman, opened the meeting with prayer. She announced that Christmas cards depicting the candlelight service at the local church are to be sold by the WSCS.

Mrs. Dan Eitel presented devotions. A pledge service with members of the Circle taking part was conducted by Mrs. C. O. Schweitzer.

A social hour was enjoyed with refreshments served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Jenkins, Miss Palm, Mrs. Dorothy Adkins and Mrs. Stansbury.

Briley Blames Congress for High Spending

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The United States is "suffering from the ulcers of unrestrained federal spending at home and abroad," John Marshall Briley, a Toledo glass company executive, told the Credit Association of Northwestern Ohio Wednesday night.

"It does no good to blame the administration," said Briley, unsuccessful Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate last fall. "I say the Congress, having the power of the purse and failing to live up to its responsibility, is more to blame than any administration."

He said a balanced budget and a plan to reduce the national debt would cut down the drain on the U. S. gold supply.

"If this country loses the balance of its gold reserve, or, as is more likely, has to embargo gold to prevent its loss," Briley said, "we will then be under the unpleasant necessity of having to live within our international income."

"Our ability to import will be limited by our ability to export; our ability to fight a war or to defend ourselves or to help 'neutrals' resist communism, will be severely limited."

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Weather Bureau's summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

At sunrise this morning, with temperatures in the high 60s and low 70s, it was quite a contrast to the cool 50s of 24 hours ago. Skies around Ohio ranged clear at Dayton and Findlay to a solid cloud cover at Toledo. The coolest spot this morning was Youngstown which registered 68 degrees. Chesapeake at the same time had a warm 75. Cincinnati 73, Columbus 70, Cleveland and Dayton 69.

This morning a line of thunderstorms went through the Ohio area about 3 a. m. and the rainfall amounts were in the neighborhood of two-tenths of an inch at most reporting stations.

The morning weather map has a high pressure area in the Canadian provinces north of the Dakotas pushing into the United States. A fairly strong cold front was across the upper portion of Lower Michigan and central Wisconsin and will pass through Ohio this afternoon, bring some marked lowering of the temperatures.

Always scrub zucchini well when it is to be cooked unpeeled; cold water and a vegetable brush will remove any grit.

Don't pay any attention when small fry let ice-cream-in-a-bowl get soft — they like it this way!

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

KENNEDYS: President Kennedy flies to Newport, R.I., late today to join his wife in observing their 10th wedding anniversary.

The White House gave out no information about the Kennedys' plans for celebrating their anniversary. The President plans to return to Washington Monday.

DRUGS: Senate antitrust investigators plan a preliminary probe into reports that some big U.S. drug firms tried to block the cut-rate sale of American drugs in South America.

Chairman Philip A. Hart of the antitrust subcommittee said closed hearings will be held to determine whether a full-scale investigation is justified.

PAYMENTS: The United States reportedly plans to ask 92 other nations to join in studying ways to modernize the non-Communist world's system of exchanging money and credit to keep pace with the rapid expansion of international trade.

Government sources say they have high hopes that the U.S. proposal will be accepted at the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank here Sept. 30.

"FLY ANYWHERE": The "fly anywhere" tour bargain for foreign visitors, put into effect Sept. 1 by 12 American local service airlines, hit Europe "like a bombshell," says Voit Gilmore, director of the U.S. Travel Service.

Touting it as "the world's greatest travel bargain," Gilmore said at a reception Wednesday night the special fare "is one of the greatest boosts to U.S. tourism since the government launched its 'Visit U.S.A.' campaign two years ago."

Rhodes Warns Dixie Woos Ohio Industry

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes warned Wednesday that southern states would like to lure away Ohio industries, and said his administration is working for new industry and new jobs in the state.

The governor, who conducted his cabinet meeting in Marion, said Ohio could attract industry by offering a "no new tax" policy for the next 15 to 20 years.

Boy Accused Of Kidnaping Woman, 19

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — An 18-year-old boy was charged today with kidnaping a young woman and forcing her to drive him to the outskirts of Moundsville.

The youth, William A. Bellew Jr. of Moundsville, waived preliminary hearing before justice of the peace Chester A. Burks and was bound over for action by the October grand jury. Bellew was returned to the Marshall County jail.

The kidnaping charge grew out of an incident here Tuesday night. Mrs. Donna Mae Siburt, 19, of Moundsville, told police she had just gotten into her car when a youth, brandishing a knife, got in beside her and ordered her to drive him out of town.

Mrs. Siburt said she drove north-east until she saw some people in the yard of a home. She quickly pulled into the driveway of what turned out to be the Glenn Delaney residence.

Delaney got a shotgun and held the youth while Mrs. Siburt telephoned police.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sometimes, numbed perhaps by overdoses of cliché comedy and trivial plots galloping to a predictable climax, we forget that television can be pure enchantment.

Wednesday night, in premier broadcast of a new CBS series, the Roots of Freedom the television became a magic carpet, flying us through time and space back 2,400 years to a Greek hillside where the theater was born.

With Alfred Lunt as guide and entertaining lecturer and Lynn Fontanne helping out, the living audiences were actually seated in the ruins of the theater of Dionysus. There on the old broken stones, a cast of talented performers, including Miss Fontanne, Alfred Drake and Donald Madden, enacted short scenes from great plays which were milestones in theater development.

First, to illustrate the very earliest Greek theme — man against the gods—there was a portion from Aeschylus' "Prometheus Bound." Sophocles' "Antigone" came next to show a more sophisticated concern for man's struggle against man. And finally, after Miss Fontanne had admonished parents to ship the children off to bed came a morally risqué comedy scene from Aristophanes' "Lysistrata," obviously the father of all bedroom farce.

It was an absorbing adult hour and proved incidentally that an educationally program doesn't have to be dull.

Phil Silvers was the guest star on Monday night's CBS "I've Got a Secret." He mentioned, incidentally, his new CBS series, "The Phil Silvers Show" and its premiere date.

Gary Lockwood was a guest on Wednesday morning's NBC "Today" show. He mentioned, incidentally, his new NBC series, "The Lieutenant," and its premiere date.

It's going to be "Sophia Loren in Rome" after October's "Elizabeth Taylor in London," but although the projected special has a sponsor, it has not yet settled on a network. ABC has nailed Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, the controversial sister-in-law of the president of South Viet Nam, for her initial American television appearance—on a Sunday "Issues and Answers" in October. The big new change in "College Bowl" when it moves from CBS to NBC Sept. 22 will be the addition of color.

Ohio Dem Chiefs Plot Voter Registration

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio Democratic county chairmen will discuss voter registration and party organization and coordination following a luncheon here Friday.

John A. Wiethe of Cincinnati who will preside at the meeting, says the Democrats will seek to raise $500,000 for the 1964 campaign.

Most of the county chairmen will stay over for the $600-a-plate dinner honoring Sen. Stephen M. Young on Saturday night. Speakers at the dinner will include former President Harry S. Truman and Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Portage Lakes Quads Die Soon after Birth

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Thomas F. Daugherty gave birth to quadruplets Tuesday, but the infants—born four months prematurely—died a few hours later.

The Daughertys, who live in the Portage Lakes area south of Akron, have two other children, a girl 7, and a boy 5.

Policeman Finds Own Name on Criminal List

CHICAGO (AP)—Police officials last week sent out a list of 143 men they said were top local criminals or their associates.

The idea was for each Chicago patrolman to become just as aware of crime syndicate hoodlums as his superiors.

The list was cut to 142 Tuesday. Patrolman Nardo Guerrero, who directs traffic not far from police headquarters, found his own name on the list. It was hastily removed, with apologies.

Voter Registration

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio Democratic county chairmen will discuss voter registration and party organization and coordination following a luncheon here Friday.

John A. Wieths of Cincinnati who will preside at the meeting, says the Democrats will seek to raise $500,000 for the 1964 campaign.

Most of the county chairmen will stay over for the $100-a-plate dinner honoring Sen. Stephen M. Young on Saturday night. Speakers at the dinner will include former President Harry S. Truman and Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Policeman Finds Own

Name on Criminal List

CHICAGO (AP)—Police officials last week sent out a list of 143 men they said were top local criminals or their associates.

The idea was for each Chicago patrolman to become just as aware of crime syndicate hoodlums as his superiors.

The list was cut to 142 Tuesday. Patrolman Nardo Guerrero, who directs traffic not far from police headquarters, found his own name on the list. It was hastily removed, with apologies.

NAMED VARIETIES — These hibiscus plants have blossoms that vary between eight and ten inches in diameter. They are "October Sunrise" and "Flirtation". A hibiscus in the garden of C. S. Kennedy of near Dublin, must be a mighty fine hibiscus before this hybridizer will bestow a name on it. These two originals were worthy of names.

Stouthearted Hybridizer Seeks Perfect Hibiscus

By ELIZABETH JONES

C. S. Kennedy, hybridizer and originator of "Ohio Hybrid Hibiscus" has attracted the interest of the nation's leading nurserymen with his work on hibiscus. Wednesday we visited the Kennedy gardens and saw 40,000 hibiscus plants in bloom.

C. S. Kennedy is a retired schoolteacher. He taught architectural drawing at West High for many years. He has white Santa Claus eyebrows and an Irish twinkle in his blue eyes.

In his 12 years of hybridizing hibiscus he has raised 100,000 plants. Of these, he says only 400 deserve to be named varieties. And of the 400, Kennedy doubts if he will keep more than 100.

A plant must have some outstanding characteristic that he wants to breed into the stock before he will give it a permanent home.

To a layman all this sounds terribly discouraging. But to C. S. Kennedy it's an exciting occupation that fills his days with interesting work. Many plants are tagged and numbered. Kennedy observes them each day and records their behavior traits in his carefully kept record book.

According to this intrepid hybridizer there has been no major changes in hibiscus since the red, pink and white giants appeared in the 1890s. In the 12 years he has worked with this plant many major changes have occurred. There are new colors, new forms and new sizes. Some plants are giants (nine feet tall), others are dwarfs.

According to Kennedy various chemicals — atomic radiations — are creating mutations of interest. He also relies on nature to provide sports. Crossings and selfings make for exciting variations.

We asked the hybridizer when he first decided to work on hibiscus. He recalls the very instant. It was during the depression when money was scarce. He located an extra dime in his pocket and he decided he'd rather spend it on a packet of hibiscus seeds than buy an extra sandwich.

Jackson and Perkins, rose growers have visited the Kennedy garden. Wayside Gardens of Mentor are interested in a miniature hibiscus. Armstrongs of California sent a representative. Life Magazine once imported a corps of photographers to take pictures. Kennedy recently wrote the magazine to tell them that the pictures would be out-dated if published now because he has made remarkable strides since then.

He confessed he kind of tangled with the Life photographers who insisted on photographing the hibiscus blooms against a rough textile background. Kennedy wanted outdoor pictures against the sky. The photographers said the textile gave a tropical effect.

WHAT HAS Kennedy accomplished in his 12 years of hard labor and scientific observations? Plenty! Color wise he has bi-colors, tri-colors and even four-colored blooms in blends and concentric patterns. Shades and tints range from pure white to pinks, reds, almost black, through lavenders and purples.

The form of the blossom according to the hybridizer, now includes

Get into Action This September

Sure it's the time to get your houseplants ready for winter. Repot them if you plan to do so. And take them in the house as of now.

As in the garden, toss out the plants that do not add to the decor of your home. Unless you are a person with a scientific bent, don't nurse along a feeble, ailing plant. Houseplants are for lookin' pretty.

And don't have too many. Occasionally a green fingered housewife finds that the houseplants are taking over. Don't allow them to do it. After all the family enjoys a place in the sunlight too.

Too many houseplants are a heavy chore. They should be merely a pleasure.

IF TOSSING out seems a little on the cruel side share with friends. Each year at Pumpkin Show the Pickaway County Garden Club has a plant sale at the flower exhibit in Hill's Implement Store. Contact a member of this club if you have an over-supply of houseplants. Members will be glad to come for them.

Sometimes schoolteachers welcome houseplants for their classrooms. Students learn about the care of plants as well as enjoying the flowers and foliage when winter comes.

We have been told that annuals may be potted for use in the house. Marigolds, balsam and petunias have been successfully potted for blooming in the home after frost.

Tired of Squash? Try This Recipe

We found a recipe for summer squash in Richardson Wright's "Bedside Book of Eating and Drinking". This book was at the height of its popularity some 15 years ago.

Wright, a gourmet of considerable authority says to stew in butter some skinned, cored tomatoes until they are mushy. Add salt and pepper and finally the squash cut into small pieces. Stew for half an hour and before serving sprinkle with chopped tarragon.

Certainly, Sir
EAST WINDSOR, Conn. (AP)—Women teachers got no special consideration at a board of education meeting here recently.

A special committee of the board announced a stringent behavior program for students. Among other things, the committee said: "We believe that pupils should respond with 'Yes, sir,' or 'No, sir,' when addressed by a teacher."

not just the old flat blossom but chalice and bell shaped and even trumpet shaped blossoms.

There is a new quality of luminescence, first noticed in 1958, an intense brilliance that occurs frequently in the halo surrounding the eye.

Blossoms vary in size from three inches to 11 inches.

Because he works with chemicals, Kennedy finds considerable instability in his plants. He feels that a plant must give a certain performance for five years before it is considered stable enough for the market.

In 1960 over 100 plants had trumpet blossoms, not five petals but one closed petal that flared at the top. In 1963 these plants have all reverted to normal five petaled blossoms with the exception of three.

KENNEDY is certainly a man with the true scientific approach. But in naming his plants he proves himself something of a romanticist too. Listen to these: Lady in Pink; Gay Sixties, Sunrise Glow, Real Romance, and Dear Dolly.

It was thought until recently that hibiscus plants were difficult to propagate except by root division. Kennedy has had no difficulty in growing cuttings under mist.

His cutting bed is sand. In taking cuttings he leaves one or two leaves on a node and sets the node in sand about 1/4 inch below the surface. His misting system emits a fine mist for several seconds. There is a five-minute rest, then more mist.

Kennedy says he welcomes visitors, but appreciates it if appointments are made beforehand. Hibiscus start blooming about July 15 and continue until frost.

Kennedy says he is a hybridizer and intends to remain one. He will sell only through nurseries. He plans to patent his outstanding originations. Not all however!

A hybridizer's life must surely be a difficult one. Only the stout-hearted can hold to the vision of perfection through the frustrated hopes and major disappointments. Out of 100,000 only 400 worthy to be named and out of the 400 only 100 outstanding enough for the competitive market and of the 100 only a few to be patented.

But C. S. Kennedy is equal to it. Each hour of each day is filled with new excitement as he watches his enormous family of hibiscus.

Garden Gossip

You missed half your life if you didn't accept the invitation to view our fifth annual water pageant.

Everybody says they're getting better every year. And this year we even had background music. Thanks to Orley Bosworth and Dick Davis!

The weather man gave us grand weather — not too hot for the audience and not too cold for the swimmers.

The pageants start out being great fun. By the time pageant day comes I have lost all my friends and alienated the family.

We noticed an increasing number of persons in the audience had brought lawn chairs. This is a wise thing to do. The ground gets kind of hard if you sit for a full hour.

Dorothy Jonnes is the only person on record with the fortitude to attend all five water pageants.

Ronnie Allen of Whisler had a curious experience last week. He was pedaling towards home on his bike when a mother skunk, followed by three skunk kittens ambled across the road. Ronnie stopped and was about to start on when a fourth skunklet lost from its mother started to cross his path and decided to investigate Ronnie. It came up, sniffed and went over into the field to continue its search for mama.

Ronnie admitted his heart was in his mouth when the little skunk approached him.

It seemed as though the pond critters knew the day school began. A wild duck landed to spend the day. And a muskrat came out along the levee and nibbled at a cattail.

The muskrat allowed me to get close. He was a very pretty little fellow with a beautiful coat of fur. It's too bad that muskrats have those horrid bare tails.

Bob Hardy, our neighbor has trapped two muskrats.

We heard of another farm pond that had to be drained because the muskrats were tunneling so badly. That makes two.

It looks as though we could outwit the muskrat. Here we are smart enough to get to the moon, but allow the muskrats to get ahead of us.

If anybody knows what to do about this menace please let us know. They are making big holes in our levee.

The swallows have left. Each night and each morning the swallows came to give us aerial maneuvers. We have been told that swallows are swooping after insects when they dive close to the pond surface.

We stopped to see Mrs. Leslie Karshner's flowers. Plants are putting on a fine show there. Her purple dahlias were especially eye-catching. She had a datura plant in bloom. If she would bother to take this plant inside this winter it would live. They are tender perennials. In tropical countries they live to good size and are called wedding bell trees.

We visited with Willie Leist in his new house. The big window in back will give everybody a fine chance to see what's growing in Willie's backyard. Twila better join a garden club and get going on a beautiful flower garden. How about making it a rose garden?

Mrs. Ethel Smith, 321 E. Ohio St., has fantastic zinnias. Some of them measure five inches in diameter. That's a pretty big zinnia.

Mrs. Ed Fetherolf, Stringtown, does not buy mixed zinnia colors. She purchases packets of all one color. This makes for a great show in a garden, all the reds together, all the oranges together and so on. She has five-inch zinnias too.

Mrs. Charles Boggs showed up at our house one day with a big bouquet of Joe Pyeweed. I immediately thought of having it in the purple garden (it's a sort of purplish pink) and today we read in Victor Ries's column where he advocated Joe Pyeweed and ironweed for flower gardens.

Even the grasshoppers disdain ironweed.

Corilla Pontius got busy on the grasshoppers that were eating her Gerrie Hoek dahlia. She offered them bran treated with DDT. It worked fine.

Mrs. Pontius has single asters in vivid colors. They look like daisies. I could have sworn they were artificial.

Wilbur Pontius was visiting his mother and he thought her arrangement of Gerrie Hoek dahlias was made of artificial flowers.

It is considered very impolite to go up to a bouquet and feel the flowers to see if they are real. If you think you have to find out don't let the hostess see you pinching the flowers. Better be sneaky than rude.

Speaking of being sneaky C. S. Kennedy, the hibiscus hybridizer says the ladies are all the time swiping seeds from his hibiscus plants.

Of course when you're in the middle of 40,000 hibiscus plants it does seem as though he could spare a few seeds. They don't come true to type from seeds however.

When we were visiting at the Kennedy garden, Mr. S. Kennedy asked if we knew Pete Neff who worked at The Herald. He is her cousin.

We were very amused at Mrs. Kennedy's reaction to all the hibiscus. She leaves all that up to her husband. She claims there are chiggers in the hibiscus garden.

And she added a little wistfully that they could never travel in summer because her husband couldn't leave his flowers. She collects Wedgewood and blue and white antique china.

Mrs. Joe Noecker, 615 S. Court St., reported that her purple and white garden had been very satisfactory this summer. Right now it's on the neglected side because they've been away. We asked what she had planted in it. She has a white magnolia, an azalea, purple petunias, white tuberous begonias, purple asyrum and quite a few other things. Her purple clematis has

Polygonums Are Healthy Plants

Types Include Vining, Shrub and Dwarf

September is the time the Polygonums are at their best. We are familiar with three types, the shrub, vining and dwarf. All three are over-exuberant.

The shrub type is known locally as Alleghany Bamboo. Actually it is Japanese Knotweed, according to botanist, Floyd Bartley. The shrub dies down each winter but by August is a good eight feet. The foliage is a deep green and perfectly disease resistant apparently.

In mid September the plant is covered with airy sprays of coral pink flowers. The pink color lasts for about ten days or two weeks before the blossoms fall.

The flowers on all the Polygonums are very small and inconspicuous but the sprays are graceful and lovely.

THERE IS a white type of Japanese Knotweed. This blooms earlier and is much less desirable than the pink variety. The so-called Alleghany bamboo is difficult to find at a nursery. Ask a friend for a start. Several years ago a well known nursery featured the pink Knotweed under the name of Alleghany bamboo and that is how it was introduced into this community.

The vining type of polygonum is known as Silver Lace Vine. It is a wild grower and can cover a building in two years time. In late summer and fall it is covered, and we do mean covered, with foamy sprays of white. It requires full sun. When in blossom it is beautiful vine.

The dwarf Polygonum is in full bloom the last week in August and the first two weeks of September. Its height is between a foot and 18 inches. It establishes itself by underground runners and is suggested as a good ground cover for full sun locations. It produces lovely graceful sprays of coral salmon. We regard it as well worth planting.

Peruvian Envoy Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manuel Seoane, 63, Peruvian diplomat and special adviser to the Organization of American States, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He had served his country as a congressman, diplomat and journalist.

bloomed off and on all summer.

Mrs. Noecker is successful with African violets. She says they do better when grown individually than when they are grown in a big group.

Dr. Joe Goeller had thrown some of his dried Bells of Ireland on his trash heap. They were 36 inches long. Mrs. Goeller told us to take them if we wanted them.

Anna and Margaret Shea are back in their E. Main Street home for keeps. They both loved their sojourn into the country. They have spent the last ten years in Walnut Twp. Margaret laments the fact that at moving time she did not get to dig some of her peonies and iris and she had to leave her magic lilies.

GARDEN

Compiled and Edited by Mrs. Elizabeth Jones GR 4-6825

10 The Circleville Herald, Thur. September 12, 1963 Circleville, Ohio

All Sorts of Windflowers Available for Gardeners

Anemones are beautiful and all too rarely grown in this area. Besides the charming little wildflower which grows in the woods and meadows there are many cultivated types.

The native windflower is only four inches high with fragile pale pink blooms. The foliage is delicate like that of a miniature columbine. It grows from a tiny bulb. Look for this charming wild flower when Spring Beauties are in bloom.

A perfectly hardy cultivated anemone is the Anemone Apennina about six inches high. It will live in shade and comes in colors of blue, pink and white.

The Grecian windflower is reliably hardy. These are only about eight inches high and multiply satisfactorily. They are said to last for years. Named varieties are: Blanda Rosea (a pink); Blue Star (Bright Blue) Bridesmaid (white), and Charming (rose pink).

THERE are anemones of French origin. These include Monarch de Caen and St. Brigid types. They have 12-inch stems and blossoms come in fantastic colors. Flowers will last for a week or more in arrangements. These are not reliably hardy. But some years they winter through in great style. Bulbs are to be found in our garden stores in this area in the fall. It's a gamble but well worth trying.

Fulgens type anemones include the St. Bavo variety. They bloom from March through May and come in fantastic colors. Two other windflowers listed under the Fulgens type are the brilliant red Fulgens Multipetala and the Fulgens Annulata Grandiflora, also red.

The Japanese anemones are among the most striking of garden perennials. They attain heights of three to four feet. They grow from roots instead of bulbs and bloom in September and October. Japanese anemones grew to perfection last year in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Noggle and Mr. and Mrs. James Moffitt. If well cared for Japanese anemones last many years. Actually they should be in every autumn garden.

Combine These Vines In Your Garden

Speaking of garden combinations here is one we saw years ago and always aimed to copy. It is Silver Lace vine and Heavenly Blue morning glories.

These two vines do indeed bloom simultaneously and every person with a silver lace vine should interplant it with Heavenly Blues.

The combination is a striking one. We saw it many years ago and have kept it in mind as a beautiful garden picture.

Kent State To Add 2 Masters Degrees

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Kent State University plans to offer for the first time this fall degrees of master of library science and bachelor of music.

The university will have an enrollment of about 16,000 when classes start Sept. 25, compared with 14,900 last year.

You'll be able to tell your grandchildren you were among the first to plant Windsor

WINDSOR is probably the most notable grass improvement in a generation. It makes a lawn that's thicker, more carpet like and richer green. It's sturdier, too. More resistant to disease and drought.

Right now is the best time of the whole year to plant it. And you'll be planting a permanent lawn — one that you and your children and their children can all expect to enjoy. Like all Scotts seeds, 99.9% weed-free.

Get into Action This September

Sure it's the time to get your houseplants ready for winter. Repot them if you plan to do so. And take them in the house as of now.

As in the garden, toss out the plants that do not add to the decor of your home. Unless you are a person with a scientific bent, don't nurse along a feeble, ailing plant. Houseplants are for looking pretty.

And don't have too many. Occasionally a green fingered housewife finds that the houseplants are taking over. Don't allow them to do it. After all the family enjoys a place in the sunlight too.

Too many houseplants are a heavy chore. They should be merely a pleasure.

IF TOSSING out seems a little on the cruel side share with friends. Each year at Pumpkin Show the Pickaway County Garden Club has a plant sale at the flower exhibit in Hill's Implement Store. Contact a member of this club if you have an over-supply of houseplants. Members will be glad to come for them.

Sometimes schoolteachers welcome houseplants for their classrooms. Students learn about the care of plants as well as enjoying the flowers and foliage when winter comes.

We have been told that annuals may be potted for use in the house. Marigolds, balsam and petunias have been successfully potted for blooming in the home after frost.

Tired of Squash? Try This Recipe

We found a recipe for summer squash in Richardson Wright's "Bedside Book of Eating and Drinking". This book was at the height of its popularity some 15 years ago.

Wright, a gourmet of considerable authority says to stew in butter some skinned, cored tomatoes until they are mushy. Add salt and pepper and finally the squash cut into small pieces. Stew for half an hour and before serving sprinkle with chopped tarragon.

Certainly, Sir

EAST WINDSOR, Conn. (AP)—Women teachers got no special consideration at a board of education meeting here recently.

A special committee of the board announced a stringent behavior program for students. Among other things, the committee said: "We believe that pupils should respond with 'Yes, sir,' or 'No, sir,' when addressed by a teacher."

Garden Gossip

You missed half your life if you didn't accept the invitation to view our fifth annual water pageant.

Everybody says they're getting better every year. And this year we even had background music. Thanks to Orley Bosworth and Dick Davis!

The weather man gave us grand weather — not too hot for the audience and not too cold for the swimmers.

The pageants start out being great fun. By the time pageant day comes I have lost all my friends and alienated the family.

We noticed an increasing number of persons in the audience had brought lawn chairs. This is a wise thing to do. The ground gets kind of hard if you sit for a full hour.

Dorothy Jones is the only person on record with the fortitude to attend all five water pageants.

Ronnie Allen of Whisler had a curious experience last week. He was pedaling towards home on his bike when a mother skunk, followed by three skunk kittens ambled across the road. Ronnie stopped and was about to start on when a fourth skunklet lost from its mother started to cross his path and decided to investigate Ronnie. It came up, sniffed and went over into the field to continue its search for mama.

Ronnie admitted his heart was in his mouth when the little skunk approached him.

It seemed as though the pond critters knew the day school began. A wild duck landed to spend the day. And a muskrat came out along the levee and nibbled at a cattail.

The muskrat allowed me to get close. He was a very pretty little fellow with a beautiful coat of fur. It's too bad that muskrats have those horrid bare tails.

Bob Hardy, our neighbor has trapped two muskrats.

We heard of another farm pond that had to be drained because the muskrats were tunneling so badly. That makes two.

It looks as though we could outwit the muskrat. Here we are smart enough to get to the moon, but allow the muskrats to get ahead of us.

If anybody knows what to do about this menace please let us know. They are making big holes in our levee.

The swallows have left. Each night and each morning the swallows came to give us aerial maneuvers. We have been told that swallows are swooping after insects when they dive close to the pond surface.

We stopped to see Mrs. Leslie Karshner's flowers. Plants are putting on a fine show there. Her purple dahlias were especially eye-catching. She had a datura plant in bloom. If she would bother to take this plant inside this winter it would live. They are tender perennials. In tropical countries they live to good size and are called wedding bell trees.

We visited with Willie Leist in his new house. The big window in back will give everybody a fine chance to see what's growing in Willie's backyard. Twila better join a garden club and get going on a beautiful flower garden. How

Polygonums Are Healthy Plants

Types Include Vining, Shrub and Dwarf

September is the time the Polygonums are at their best. We are familiar with three types, the shrub, vining and dwarf. All three are over-exuberant.

The shrub type is known locally as Alleghany Bamboo. Actually it is Japanese Knotweed, according to botanist, Floyd Bartley. The shrub dies down each winter but by August is a good eight feet. The foliage is a deep green and perfectly disease resistant apparently.

In mid September the plant is covered with airy sprays of coral pink flowers. The pink color lasts for about ten days or two weeks before the blossoms fall.

The flowers on all the Polygonums are very small and inconspicuous but the sprays are graceful and lovely.

THERE IS a white type of Japanese Knotweed. This blooms earlier and is much less desirable than the pink variety. The so-called Alleghany bamboo is difficult to find at a nursery. Ask a friend for a start. Several years ago a well known nursery featured the pink Knotweed under the name of Alleghany bamboo and that is how it was introduced into this community.

The vining type of polygonum is known as Silver Lace Vine. It is a wild grower and can cover a building in two years time. In late summer and fall it is covered, and we do mean covered, with foamy sprays of white. It requires full sun. When in blossom it is beautiful vine.

The dwarf Polygonum is in full bloom the last week in August and the first two weeks of September. Its height is between a foot and 18 inches. It establishes itself by underground runners and is suggested as a good ground cover for full sun locations. It produces lovely graceful sprays of coral salmon. We regard it as well worth planting.

Peruvian Envoy Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manuel Seoane, 63, Peruvian diplomat and special adviser to the Organization of American States, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He had served his country as a congressman, diplomat and journalist.

bloomed off and on all summer.

Mrs. Noecker is successful with African violets. She says they do better when grown individually than when they are grown in a big group.

Dr. Joe Goeller had thrown some of his dried Bells of Ireland on his trash heap. They were 36 inches long. Mrs. Goeller used them to take them if we wanted them.

Anna and Margaret Shea are back in their E. Main Street home for keeps. They both loved their sojourn into the country. They have spent the last ten years in Walnut Twp. Margaret laments the fact that at moving time she did not get to dig some of her peonies and iris and she had to leave her magic lilies.

All Sorts of Windflowers Available for Gardeners

Anemones are beautiful and all too rarely grown in this area. Besides the charming little wildflower which grows in the woods and meadows there are many cultivated types.

The native windflower is only four inches high with fragile pale pink blooms. The foliage is delicate like that of a miniature columbine. It grows from a tiny bulb. Look for this charming wild flower when Spring Beauties are in bloom.

A perfectly hardy cultivated anemone is the Anemone Apennina about six inches high. It will live in shade and comes in colors of blue, pink and white.

The Grecian windflower is reliably hardy. These are only about eight inches high and multiply satisfactorily. They are said to last for years. Named varieties are: Blanda Rosea (a pink); Blue Star (Bright Blue) Bridesmaid (white), and Charming (rose pink).

THERE are anemones of French origin. These include Monarch de Caen and St. Brigid types. They have 12-inch stems and blossoms come in fantastic colors. Flowers will last for a week or more in arrangements. These are not reliable. But some years they winter through in great style. Bulbs are to be found in our garden stores in this area in the fall. It's a gamble but well worth trying.

Fulgens type anemones include the St. Bavo variety. They bloom from March through May and come in fantastic colors. Two other windflowers listed under the Fulgens type are the brilliant red Fulgens Multipetala and the Fulgens Annulata Grandiflora, also red.

The Japanese anemones are among the most striking of garden perennials. They attain heights of three to four feet. They grow from roots instead of bulbs and bloom in September and October. Japanese anemones grew to perfection last year in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Noggle and Mr. and Mrs. James Moffitt. If well cared for Japanese anemones last many years. Actually they should be in every autumn garden.

Combine These Vines In Your Garden

Speaking of garden combinations here is one we saw years ago and always aimed to copy. It is Silver Lace vine and Heavenly Blue morning glories.

These two vines do indeed bloom simultaneously and every person with a silver lace vine should interplant it with Heavenly Blues.

The combination is a striking one. We saw it many years ago and have kept it in mind as a beautiful garden picture.

Kent State To Add 2 Masters Degrees

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Kent State University plans to offer for the first time this fall degrees of master of library science and bachelor of music.

The university will have an enrollment of about 16,000 when classes start Sept. 25, compared with 14,000 last year.

Genoa Mayor Being Honored By Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some years ago the City of Genoa, Italy, presented the City of Columbus with a statue of Christopher Columbus to stand in front of City Hall.

Now the mayor of Genoa, 59-year-old Vittorio Pertusio, is in Columbus for a two-day visit, guest of the city's Italian colony and business and civic leaders.

In return for the statue, Columbus announced recently that it would award a scholarship each Columbus Day in Genoa's name. It will be awarded by the Institute of International Communications organized in Genoa this year after 10 years of conventions in the Italian city.

"The citizens of Genoa have appreciated very much the relationship with Columbus, and have felt themselves closely tied with the city," Pertusio said. "The scholarship creates a continuing tie that lives from year to year."

The scholarship had been suggested after the Columbus committee scraped a monument plan as too costly and impracticable.

Pertusio said the "major problem" in his political field "is to strengthen democratic processes against the Communist threat."

From Columbus, Mayor Pertusio and his wife plan to go to San Francisco.

New York, Boston and Chicago are the only other cities on his tour.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 12, the 255th day of 1963. There are 110 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1649, Oliver Cromwell captured Drogheda, Ireland, and executed the entire garrison of about 3,000 men. On the same date in 1651, Cromwell entered London in triumph after defeating King Charles II and the Scots.

On this date In 1753, Sir Danvers Osborne committed suicide five days after his appointment as governor of New York.

In 1866, Kansas State University was opened.

In 1918, U.S. forces began cleaning out the German army in the St. Mihiel Salient in the first battle planned and executed by the United States in World War I.

In 1946, former Vice President Henry Wallace touched off a controversy with a speech critical of a so-called "get-tough-with-Russia" policy.

In 1951, Gen. George C. Marshall all resigned as defense secretary and was succeeded by Robert Lovett.

Five years ago ... Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus closed all of Little Rock's four high schools as the Supreme Court rejected an appeal for a delay in racial integration of Little Rock's Central High.

One year ago ... President Kennedy completed a two-day inspection tour of space installations.

Boy Fatally Stabbed By Delicatessen Boss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Fyles, a 61-year-old delicatessen store operator, told police Wednesday he fatally stabbed 17-year-old Nicholas Cachanda in self defense.

The victim was found Tuesday lying outside the store on the sidewalk. Fyles said teenagers had been hanging outside his store in gangs and had harassed him. He told detectives he thought Cachanda was going to rob him when the youth entered the store.

The owner went to the rear of the store to call police, he said, and was jumped from behind. Fyles said he reached over for a knife from a meatblock to defend himself.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dispute about the nuclear test ban treaty, even though the Senate seems certain to approve it, gives a priceless insight into how far off world disarmament is.

President Kennedy and his advisers — diplomatic, military and scientific—all think it is to this country's interest to agree to a limited test ban with Russia. But others, in and out of Congress, have doubts and forebodings.

The doubters persist in their misgivings about the treaty — which prohibits testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under water but permits it underground — despite assurances given the Senate by:

1. Secretary of State Dean Rusk —that the United States could detect at once any Russian try at cheating.

2. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara—that the United States is, and will remain, superior to Russia in nuclear weapons, even under a test ban.

3. Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission—that any risks to this country under the treaty would be "minor."

All this is not assurance enough for the troubled ones.

They express suspicions and fears that the Russians somehow, some way, can use the ban to American disadvantage.

Not long ago in this country there was widespread contempt for Russian abilities. That attitude, never valid, has disintegrated in just 14 years under three great shocks:

1949—When the Russians exploded their first atomic bomb; 1953—When they exploded their first hydrogen bomb just one year after this country did; 1957—When they sent the first satellite, Sputnik, around the earth.

Some of the misgivings about the test ban treaty now may be attributed to a reverse psychology. Not only fear of Russian ability but even an inferiority about it.

For instance fear that the Russians are so clever they can hoodwink this country and surge ahead in nuclear weapons even though under the same limitation the treaty would put on this country.

Carry this attitude one more step: While cheating under the treaty could be detected, as Rusk said, since devices could record an atmospheric blast, any cheating under a disarmament agreement would be far harder to spot.

It therefore follows from the misgivings about the test ban that if this country ever undertook a disarmament agreement with Russia shudders of doubt would shake the United States and perhaps make such an agreement impossible.

For this reason any hope of world disarmament in the foreseeable future looks like a pipe dream. But the alternative to disarmament is continuing armament.

In short this country and the world, despite the limited test ban treaty which has been called a first possible step toward better understandings, seem headed for an arms race for years to come.

By ED WALLACE
State Representative

A new law, aimed at minors who buy or attempt to buy beer and liquor illegally, will go into effect Sept. 20, Ed Wallace, Pickaway County's State Representative, said today.

The new statute, enacted by the 165th Ohio General Assembly is in addition to a previously-enacted law fixing penalties for beer and liquor permit holders who sell to minors, Representative Wallace explained.

It provides that a minor under 18 who attempts to buy or buys 3.2 beer or intoxicating liquor, which includes high-powered beer, or gives false information to make such a purchase, shall be charged as a juvenile delinquent and can be fined up to $50.

Minors 18 to 21, who attempt to buy, or buy intoxicating liquor, or give false information, can be fined $25 to $300, or sentenced up to six months, or both. Permit holders must display printed cards, telling of the new law.

THE new law is among more than 30 becoming effective during the week of Sept. 15, Representative Wallace explained.

A nine-member Board of Regents to guide the future of publicly-supported higher education in Ohio and assist, wherever possible, privately-supported higher education institutions, comes into being also on Sept. 20.

Governor James A. Rhodes already has named the nine members to the Board which will formulate a master plan for higher education; approve or disapprove new university branches or academic centers, state technical institutes or other higher education institutions; approve new degree programs for state-assisted higher education institutions; assist state universities in the most efficient use of their facilities and personnel; recommend the nature of programs to be offered; make recommendations to the governor and legislature on capital plans, establishment of new institutions and new programs, and make recommendations for state appropriations.

Other new laws effective Monday, include those to:— Establish a 40-hour work week for non-teaching school employees. Allow boards of education to carry up to $500,000 liability insurance on school buses.

• • • • • ALLOW municipal firemen credit for time served in armed services after Sept. 20, 1948, during periods of national emergency. Set probationary period for new firemen at a year from date of appointment.

Require county clerks of court to notify the State Board of Education of conviction of a teacher of a felony or other crimes of immorality.

Require annual inventory by each county officer or department head to be filed with the county auditor.

Exempt persons giving first aid at the scene of an emergency, outside of a hospital or doctor's office, from civil liability unless there is willful or wanton misconduct, and provided the care is not given in anticipation of remuneration.

Strengthen the prohibition against exhibition of obscene motion pictures to minors under 18.

Permit boards of education to furnish free materials used in classes to needy pupils.

Discrimination In Reverse Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—With Negro organizations and many federal, state and local government agencies pressing for better break for Negro workers, hiring practices and contests for jobs have become an acute issue.

As a result of these pressures, there have been some questions raised whether a reverse discrimination — against white workers — might develop.

An Associated Press survey of some of the nation's major industrial centers showed that more Negroes are being hired for better jobs but it also indicated there is no great rush to provide employment for them on the basis of race.

On the other hand, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who heads President Kennedy's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, said industry had exceeded expectations in providing more and better jobs for non-whites.

Promotion of three Negroes to post office supervisory jobs, although they were lower than 53 white men on the established merit scale, set off a furor in Dallas.

Eleven high-ranking white postal workers filed suit against the Post Office Department, claiming they were discriminated against because of their race.

A Seattle employment agency operator reported two instances in the last month in which white workers complained they had lost their jobs because they had been replaced by Negroes.

Dudley Cameron, deputy area manager of the California Department of Employment in San Francisco, reported an increasing inclination to hire Negroes.

"One might say it is discrimination against whites," he said.

In New York City, two members of the City Commission on Human Rights suggested that racial bias in the building trades might be eased by favoring Negroes over white applicants for apprenticeship.

About 70 St. Louis area firms have made efforts since the first of this year to hire Negroes for the first time on jobs other than menial capacity. Negro leaders and employment experts said that there have been no complaints of discrimination in reverse.

The Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission pointed out that employment quotas based on race would be against state law. It said it had processed a few reverse discrimination complaints several months ago.

Five big Chicago downtown banks invited the Chicago Urban League to help them recruit more Negro employees. Edwin C. Perry, executive director of the league said the jobs range from page girl to management trainee.

Archie Williams, chairman of the Boston Labor and Industry Committee of the National Association of Colored People, said there has been no rush to employ Negroes but there has been a rush to set the groundwork to get more jobs for Negroes.

A definite increase in requests for Negroes to fill jobs in industry and business was noted by Ernest Cooper, executive director of the Urban League in Cleveland. He said many of the orders are from firms that have tried perhaps one Negro, found that it has worked and are back for more.

"SEWERS IN SKY"—HEW secretary Anthony Celebrezze, testifies before the Senate Public Works Committee in Washington in favor of a bill to control air pollution and put an end to "sewers in the sky." The bill would provide a 10-year, $74 million program of federal grants and set up a long range national research program.

Genoa Mayor Being Honored By Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some years ago the City of Genoa, Italy, presented the City of Columbus with a statue of Christopher Columbus to stand in front of City Hall.

Now the mayor of Genoa, 59-year-old Vittorio Pertusio, is in Columbus for a two-day visit, guest of the city's Italian colony and business and civic leaders.

In return for the statue, Columbus announced recently that it would award a scholarship each Columbus Day in Genoa's name. It will be awarded by the Institute of International Communications organized in Genoa this year after 10 years of conventions in the Italian city.

"The citizens of Genoa have appreciated very much the relationship with Columbus, and have felt themselves closely tied with the city," Pertusio said. "The scholarship creates a continuing tie that lives from year to year."

The scholarship had been suggested after the Columbus committee scraped a monument plan as too costly and impracticable.

Pertusio said the "major problem" in his political field "is to strengthen democratic processes against the Communist threat."

From Columbus, Mayor Pertusio and his wife plan to go to San Francisco.

New York, Boston and Chicago are the only other cities on his tour.

By ED WALLACE
State Representative

A new law, aimed at minors who buy or attempt to buy beer and liquor illegally, will go into effect Sept. 20, Ed Wallace, Pickaway County's State Representative, said today.

The new statute, enacted by the 165th Ohio General Assembly is in addition to a previously-enacted law fixing penalties for beer and liquor permit holders who sell to minors. Representative Wallace explained.

It provides that a minor under 18 who attempts to buy or buys 3.2 beer or intoxicating liquor, which includes high-powered beer, or gives false information to make such a purchase, shall be charged as a juvenile delinquent and can be fined up to $50.

Minors 18 to 21, who attempt to buy, or buy intoxicating liquor, or give false information, can be fined $25 to $300, or sentenced up to six months, or both. Permit holders must display printed cards, telling of the new law.

THE new law is among more than 30 becoming effective during the week of Sept. 15, Representative Wallace explained.

A nine-member Board of Regents to guide the future of publicly-supported higher education in Ohio and assist, wherever possible, privately-supported higher education institutions, comes into being also on Sept. 20.

Governor James A. Rhodes already has named the nine members to the Board which will formulate a master plan for higher education; approve or disapprove new university branches or academic centers; state technical institutes or other higher education institutions; approve new degree programs for state-assisted higher education institutions; assist state universities in the most efficient use of their facilities and personnel; recommend the nature of programs to be offered; make recommendations to the governor and legislature on capital plans, establishment of new institutions and new programs, and make recommendations for state appropriations.

Other new laws effective Monday, include those to:— Establish a 40-hour work week for non-teaching school employees. Allow boards of education to carry up to $500,000 liability insurance on school buses.

ALLOW municipal firemen credit for time served in armed services after Sept. 20, 1948, during periods of national emergency.

Set probationary period for new firemen at a year from date of appointment.

Require county clerks of court to notify the State Board of Education of conviction of a teacher of a felony or other crimes of immorality.

Require annual inventory by each county officer or department head to be filed with the county auditor.

Exempt persons giving first aid at the scene of an emergency, outside of a hospital or doctor's office, from civil liability unless there is wilful or wanton misconduct, and provided the care is not given in anticipation of remuneration.

Strengthen the prohibition against exhibition of obscene motion pictures to minors under 18.

Permit boards of education to furnish free materials used in classes to needy pupils.

TIGER TRIUMVIRATE — This trio of Circleville High School football players will be captains tomorrow night when the Tigers and the Vikings meet in the initial football game between the two schools. The coaching staff is starting a policy of naming a "senior captain" for each game to serve with Howard Fletcher, left and Duke Fyffe, right, co-captains. Picked this week is Gary Betts, center, senior defensive corner back and offensive halfback.

Tigers and Vikings Both Want Wins in Tomorrow's Game

Tomorrow night the Circleville High School Tigers and the Teays Valley Vikings clash for the first time on a football field.

The initial grid meeting between the two class AA schools in Pickaway County is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. on the modern Teays Valley field.

Coaches of both teams make no secret of the fact they want to win this game. Teays Valley coach Marion Waits, who has his grid-ders in excellent condition, says that "regardless of the outcome of the game, Circleville will know we were there."

In spite of the small size of the Viking varsity unit, they are all out to play football according to Waits.

AND CIRCLEVILLE Coach Paul Starr wants the win for a number of reasons.

"The boys need the win for confidence," said Starr last night at the first of the Booster Nights yesterday evening at the Coca Cola plant.

"We have hte potential for a good team."

Injuries have taken their toll of the Circleville ranks.

Still missing contact work in practice and out of the lineup are Jim Starkey and Chet Iery, both with broken arms. Starkey, a 204 pound junior tackle, is a real "hustler" according to Starr and had probably the best attitude on the team.

Iery, also a junior, is a quarterback. BRUCE HORN, suffering from an infection, will miss tomorrow's game.

Horn was a defensive stalwart at his corner position last year and started at the offensive half-back slot last week.

Starr, not at all satisfied with the offensive showing of the Tigers in their opener, pointed out the defense was pretty good for the first game of the season.

They held Olenangy to 68 yards offense, three first downs, including one by penalty, and intercepted two passes.

Jack Martin led the team in tackles last week with seven. He also was credited with one assist.

Mike Ramey had six tackles and two assists. Ramey got a Tiger head for a blocked punt and a downfield block, while Bob Purcell received Tiger heads for a blocked pass and a downfield block.

THE TEAYS Valley marching band under the direction of Mary Jo Gaskalla will be making their initial home appearance of the season during halftime of the game.

Teays Valley school officials expressed disappointment that the Circleville High School marching band will not be able to make the trip to participate in the halftime ceremonies.

The CHS band makes two away appearances during the year, and the travel schedule did not include the game tomorrow.

Season Opens Tonight On Youngstown Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's collegiate grid season starts with a bang tonight as Youngstown University launches its 22nd campaign as host to the Bulldogs of Texas Lutheran.

Youngstown coach Dike Beede, entering his 31st year at a collegiate helm, figures his Penguin team should be the best the school has fielded in several years. He'll use a two-platoon system for the first time, due to a heavy return of lettermen.

The Seguin, Tex., team and the Penguins have met twice before, playing a 14-14 tie in 1961, and Youngstown winning 13-6 last season.

Five other Ohio teams get into the act Saturday, all against out-of-state opponents, with the big splurge coming Sept. 21 when 18 games involving Buckeye clubs are on tap.

Xavier's Musketeers, 6-4 last year, open Saturday night with the Quantico Marines as guests. Coach Ed Biles of the Queen City club, starting his second year, is banking on better team speed and a host of promising sophomores. Quantico has players from 23 colleges on its roster, including Pat McCarthy of Holy Cross, who scored 350 points there. The Marines hold a 10-6 edge over the Musketeers in the series dating back to 1926.

In other Saturday action, Alma (Mich.) invades Bluffton for an afternoon fray, while night contests send Hope (Mich.) against Ashland, Northwood (Mich.) against Ohio Northern, and Findlay to Hillsdale, Mich.

Tom Barrington has missed too many practices, due to a summer injury, to take on the complex quarterback job and definitely has installed him at fullback.

Tiger Frosh Down Logan Elm, 8-0

A 60-yard pass play gave the Circleville freshman football team their lone touchdown last night at Logan Elm as they posted a 8-0 victory over the host team.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Danny Gibbs hit end Ronnie Bryant with a pass near the sidelines and he raced the distance to the goal line.

Tom Jenkins bulled off tackle for the two point conversion.

A key block in the pass play was thrown by Tom Fletcher.

Circleville frosh coach, Bill Mosure, termed the game more of a defensive game as neither team was able to effectively move the ball with the exception of the long pay dirt pass.

RONNIE BRYANT, playing at linebacker and Tom Fletcher, at defensive corner, were the key defensive players.

Tonight the Tiger reserves travel to Groveport for a game scheduled to begin at 4 p. m. Monday the reserves host the Logan Elm reserve unit, with game time set at 5:45 p. m.

Boosters Drop Booth at Home Grid Games

The Circleville Booster Club voted to discontinue their booth at home football games during a meeting of the group last night.

Bob Chapman, chairman of the Club, voiced the opinion, supported by the club, that with the limitations that have been placed on what they were allowed to sell, the profit potential of the booth was extremely limited.

When the school administration gave the club permission to operate the booth on the school grounds, it was agreed the Boosters were to sell nothing that was sold by the school booths operated by the Junior Class and the Stogie Club.

Coach Paul Starr showed films of the Olenangy game last Friday and gave brief scouting report of the game with Teays alley slated tomorrow.

He explained the system used by the staff for grading the quality of the performance of individual players in games and conducted a question and answer session

The lone filly in the field is Richard Downing's Timely Beauty, who set a world record for juvenile fillies when she went a mile in 1:57 1-5 against the fence at Lexington, Ky., last fall.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Sixteen golfers went into the first of two 18-hole rounds in the U.S. Amateur Golf championship today, but absent from the group was the defending champion, Labron Harris Jr.

Harris was eliminated Wednesday by Walter Stahl of Cleveland, 2 and 1.

Joe Harris, who carries one of the clearest crystal balls ever polished, will make weekly football predictions for Circleville Hardware Co. in their "Beat the Pro" contest. The ad will appear in The Herald each week with his predictions of the following Saturday and Sunday games.

Hal Dickinson, owner of Circleville Hardware has offered a weekly merchandise prize for any reader who can beat Joe Harris' predictions.

According to Dickinson this is a real challenge for local prognosticators as Harris is America's most accurate forecaster, having predicted scores and winners, even upsets, to the tune of 82.9 per cent accuracy during the past 21 years.

Local contestants will clip the weekly ads, make their predictions and submit the entries to Circleville Hardware by Saturday's games each week.

Yanks Rooting for Dodgers, See Fatter World Series Pot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees are openly favoring the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League flag in the battle with the St. Louis Cardinals.

They figure a World Series with the Dodgers will be worth some $6,000 a man more than one with the Cardinals. The arithmetic is simple. There are some 55,000 seats in O'Malley's house in Los Angeles, and all within naked eye distance of home plate are called boxes, at $12 a copy. St. Louis has only 30,000 seats, few in the $12 class.

The Yankees moved a step closer to their own annual American League pennant-clinching party by whipping the Kansas City Athletics 8-2 Wednesday night. Mickey Mantle smacked a three-run homer in the first inning and added a single and double. Whitey Ford won his 22nd game. Joe Pepitone also hit a two-run homer.

Eddie Fisher went the distance for the White Sox against Baltimore, winning his eighth with a three-hitter. Dave Nicholson homered for the Sox. Camilo Carreon also homered.

Dick Phillips led off the 10th inning with his 10th homer for the Washington victory. Dick McAuliffe homered for the Tigers.

Gatewood, 25, a right-hander just up from Memphis, lost his shutout bid in the ninth when Dick Stuart tripled and scored on Russ Nixon's sacrifice fly.

Coffee Break Gets Nod in HTA Pace

CLEVELAND (AP)—A field of eight is entered in the $11,600 Harness Tracks of America pace at Northfield Park Friday night.

Coffee Break, the 5-2 pre-race favorite and "Ohio harness horse of the year" in 1962, has drawn the No. 7 post position for the second leg of the six-stop international cross-country series which winds up with the $50,000 finals at Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, N. Y., Oct. 11.

Harold J., winner of the first leg of the series last week at Scioto Downs at Columbus, drew the post position. The Billy Haughton-trained Duo has been named 3-1 second choice here.

Listed at 5-1 are Lehigh Hanover, winner of last year's Little Brown Jug; Adora's Dream unbeaten in 11 starts as a 2-year-old, and Rusty Range.

Completing the field are Ted Row Gil and Mr. C. Song.

Sub Jockey Wins Pair of Sprints

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—In an oddity at Beulah Park Wednesday, jockey Craig Nicholson subbed in the second race for one of two riders injured in a first-race spill and in the featured eighth for the other—and won both events.

Nicholson's triumph in the second with Phadina completed a healthy $841.60 daily double set up when a 26-1 shot, Jodie Podie, took advantage of the spill to win the opener. The jockeys who fell, Paul Ward and Robert Wolbrecht, suffered only minor injuries.

Ed Bailey, John Edwards, Jim Hickman and Bill White were the first four National League runners to hit grand slam home runs this spring.

Tony O'Donnel, Michigan State tennis ace, won four straight city titles in his home town of London, Ont., between 1958 and 1961.

Fans of Browns Awaiting Proof

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio fans are curious, if not confident as the Cleveland Browns go into the 1963 National Football League campaign.

There are still some fandom rumblings over the firing of Paul Brown as head coach, shortly after the first of the year. Precision Paul and the Browns were practically synonymous after he had led the team to seven Eastern Conference championships, a tie and three world titles in his 13-year regime.

Brown's total of 111 victories against 44 losses and 5 ties was the best in the league over that stretch, and although his offense had become somewhat stereotyped the last few years, most of the spectators figured he'd rebound.

But owner Art Modell didn't see it that way, relegated Paul to a desk-riding vice presidency, and handed the top job to gentlemanly Blanton Collier, former Brown side and lately Kentucky's mentor. Collier, realizing he's on the league's hot seat, isn't blessed with earth-shaking material outside of fullback Jim Brown, who led the loop in rushing five of the last six years.

A year ago the Browns won all five exhibition games, then settled for a 7-6-1 tie race record and third place in the Eastern Conference. This year Cleveland copped only two of five exhibitions, with relatively weak Los Angeles and San Francisco as the victims, so the outlook is dubious.

Jim Ninowski and Frank Ryan, who shared the quarterback duties last season will do the same again. Ryan has a fabulous record of 49 completions in 65 attempts for the exhibition season, despite some leaky protection which saw him dumped for losses despite his nimble footwork.

But, despite Ryan's fine passing and Brown's great running, Cleveland has displayed no great scoring punch and the defense—third best in the league last year—probably will collect some overtime pay.

Whether Collier, a highly-talented technician, can weld the team into a "go get 'em" unit similar to the Browns of the olden, golden days is problematical. His offense, to the fans in the stands at least, differs little from that employed by Brown the last few not-too-good years.

The team is just about the same as it was a year ago, the few personnel changes apparently not hurting or helping too much. The coaches, too, are the same, with the exception of Brown being out and his top aide being in.

The change didn't hurt at the gate as the Browns helped pull 83,218 into Cleveland Stadium for the opening exhibition double header, but the Brown incident and any tendency toward lackluster play could be determining factors later.

Perry Is Back With 49er '11'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe "The Jet" Perry, professional football's all-time rushing leader, is back with the San Francisco 49ers—though only on a part-time basis.

Perry, released Wednesday by the Baltimore Colts, has signed with San Francisco as a "taxi" member.

"Taxi" are a genus of "red-shirt alumni," who do not hold regular spots on the roster, but who are brought up in case of injury to a regular player.

The New York Yankees beat the Chicago White Sox in their season series, 10 games to 8.

Yanks Rooting for Dodgers, See Fatter World Series Pot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Yankees are openly favoring the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League flag in the battle with the St. Louis Cardinals.

They figure a World Series with the Dodgers will be worth some $6,000 a man more than one with the Cardinals. The arithmetic is simple. There are some 55,000 seats in O'Malley's house in Los Angeles, and all within naked eye distance of home plate are called boxes, at $12 a copy. St. Louis has only 30,000 seats, few in the $12 class.

The Yankees moved a step closer to their own annual American League pennant-clinching party by whipping the Kansas City Athletics 8-2 Wednesday night. Mickey Mantle smacked a three-run homer in the first inning and added a single and double. Whitey Ford won his 22nd game. Joe Pepitone also hit a two-run homer.

share their views — contend the operations analysts are so bemused by what they think is rational and logical that they do not give due consideration to the possibility of illogical action by the Soviets.

Another criticism leveled at the civilian analysts is that they take slight account of human factors.

Who are the "whiz kids"? Here are the thumbnail sketches of a few of the most influential:

Dr. Alain C. Enthoven, 33, a native of Seattle; Rhodes scholar; holder of Ph.D. in economics from MIT; slim, handsome product of Rand Corp., a "think factory" where he worked on strategic air warfare studies; prime mover in fostering "spare the cities" policy which envisions nuclear exchanges aimed at military complexes and bases rather than populations.

Henry S. Rowen, 37, a Bostonian, MIT graduate, did graduate work at Oxford and another product of Rand. Tall, sandy-haired, studious-looking has had great impact in formulating limited and conventional war policies.

Dr. Harold Brown, 36, a nuclear physicist and director of the famed Lawrence Radiation Laboratory before becoming powerful director of defense research and engineering. Views weigh heavily in approval or disapproval of weapons projects. Dark, casual-dressing native of New York City and Columbia graduate where he won Ph.D.

Oil Derrick Collapse Fatal To 2 Texans

MONAHANS, Tex. (AP) — A collapsing derrick killed two men helping drill an oil well Wednesday night, a third suffered serious injuries as he was hurled more than 100 feet to the ground.

Two other members of the drilling crew escaped injury as 200 tons of steel showered down all around them.

The accident happened shortly before midnight at a well being drilled 45 miles southwest of here in West Texas.

Workmen were pulling the drill stem from the hole, which is down to 18,504 feet in a test being sunk for Rhoden Oil Co. they had stacked about 17,500 feet of heavy pipe against what is known as the finger board, which supports the pipe high in the derrick.

Without warning the finger board gave way, pipe smashed against the derrick and it collapsed.

Robert J. Henderson, 24, of Odessa, Tex., was killed as he fell from the rig floor, which stood 28 feet above ground.

A heavy piece of the rig from near the top struck and killed Philip Crittendon, 18, of Monahans.

J.B. Morris, 44, of Monahans tumbled from the top of the derrick, which reached 108 feet into the air.

Carolina City Is Tense in Racial Dispute

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—Police patrolled downtown streets with tear gas bombs and fire trucks equipped with high pressure hoses after a near-riot in this racially tense city Wednesday night.

Officers used tear gas and fire trucks to disperse about 2,000 whites who bombarded Negro demonstrators with rocks, eggs, tomatoes and other missiles. Main Street was closed off to traffic and pedestrians for more than an hour after the disturbance.

Mayor Floyd Mehan, accusing Negro leaders of making "dangerous, dictatorial and inconsistent statements," scheduled a special meeting of the City Council to deal with the racial situation.

The downtown area was cleared when whites began regrouping after reports that a second Negro march was planned. Negro leaders called off the march.

The Rev. B. Elton Cox, a field representative for the Congress of Racial Equality, has demanded total integration of this industrial city of 65,000 persons. He rejected a request from the mayor Tuesday to declare a moratorium on demonstrations.

DOING ALL RIGHT—Two white students sit at the same lunch table with two Negro girls in Istrouma High School in Baton Rouge, La., and the situation seems peaceful. Four previously all white schools in the city were integrated by 28 Negro students peacefully.

State Patrol Inspects Local School Buses

School buses in Pickaway County were inspected by the Highway Patrol yesterday according to Sergeant S. L. Adomaitis of the Circleville Highway Patrol Post.

In announcing the inspection, the Sergeant said Patrolmen C. D. Wolfinger, and Ptl. D. J. Starcher of the Post conducted the inspections which followed a schedule approved by local school authorities.

All buses were checked thoroughly to determine if they met all safety requirements. Each bus was checked for 32 important equipment, mechanical and safety items. All corrections cited as necessary must be made within three days. Major safety items must be corrected immediately.

Those buses approved were issued a safety certificate that will be displayed on the windshield of the bus. Those not approved will not display a safety certificate until all defects noted by the inspecting officer are corrected.

In addition to checking the safety requirements of the buses, all drivers were checked for their annual physical fitness certificates and their special school bus operator's licenses. Every driver must meet rigid physical requirements before he is permitted to drive a school bus.

Of 77 buses inspected in Pickaway County last year, 62 were found in need of correction or adjustments before they met requirements and were issued safety certificates.

Of the 9,738 school buses inspected in the state in 1962 by the Highway Patrol, 437 were classified in the unserviceable category and were ordered out of service until the indicated repairs were made.

Items classifying a bus as unserviceable include defective lights, brakes, steering, exhaust system, tires, etc.

An additional 3,287 buses were classified unsatisfactory requiring minor repairs before a certificate could be issued.

With the announcement of the inspection schedule, Sergeant Adomaitis also reminded motorists of the state's school bus law requiring all traffic to stop at least ten feet from the front or rear of a bus loading or unloading passengers.

The only exception is when the bus is operating on a four-lane divided highway. Then traffic approaching the bus from the opposite direction is not required to stop.

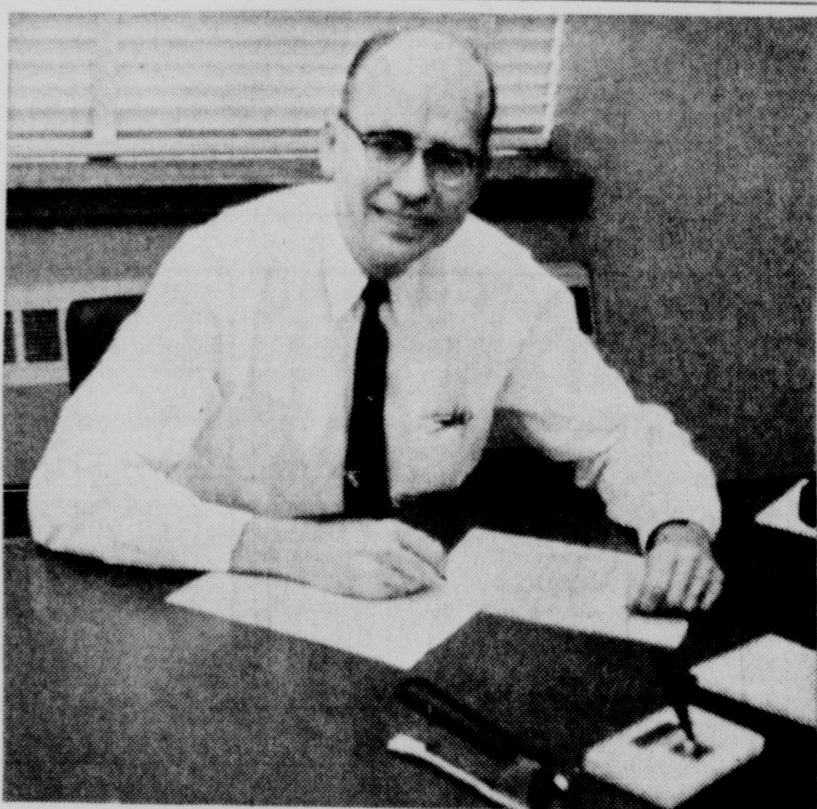

The sergeant cautioned that any motorist who fails to stop for a school bus is subject to arrest. More important, he may cause the death or serious injury of some school child. For the protection of the students transported by buses, he urged all motorists to be especially alert and careful whenever encountering a school bus or driving through a school zone.

He reminded motorists the speed limit through a school zone is 20 miles per hour during recess and opening and closing hours when children are going to or leaving school.

Cleveland AFL-CIO Raps Rhodes' Aide

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland AFL-CIO Federation of Labor passed a resolution Wednesday night demanding that Gov. James A. Rhodes remove William O. Walker from his post as Ohio industrial relations director.

Walker, a former Cleveland councilman who is owner and publisher of the Call & Post, a Negro newspaper, was accused of denying recognition to two unions and their members. Tyrographical Union Local 51 has struck the paper to win recognition.

EUROPE BOUND — Phillip H. Hardy (above), supervisor of manufacturing engineering at the Circleville Lamp Plant of General Electric, will leave Saturday for a two-week special assignment in Europe. The purpose of Hardy's trip will be to study and evaluate European fluorescent lamp making equipment, according to E. G. Grigg, plant manager. Hardy is expected to return Sept. 28.

Iron Lung's Battery Fades On Plane Trip

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The airplane passenger was a frightened 26-year-old woman being kept alive by an iron lung. With 900 miles to go, the batteries for the lung were failing.

It was the Sunday of Labor Day weekend and a University of Michigan medical team was flying patient Carol Kaufman from Mexico City to Ann Arbor in a twin-engine Beechcraft. News of the flight was revealed Wednesday.

"We had to do something fast, so we set down at Monroe, La.," said equipment engineer Gerald Horn. Only two batteries were left — one half dead and one in reserve for emergencies.

"We didn't have any idea where we were going to find any people — much less batteries," Horn said.

"But then two young men working at the airport offered to trade us their car batteries. We got a third from a gas station owner in town. We were really wheeling and dealing there for a while, but we never thought to get their names.

"It was close. By the time we completed the deal, we were already using the emergency battery."

The tawny-haired, brown-eyed student of Spanish and Latin-American studies at Mexico City College was stricken with crippling polio last April.
